Show Some Guts Grit Tells Grits

VANCOUVER (CP)—An article in a Young Liberal magazine calls on the federal government to "show some guts, some leadership and be candid with the Canadian people."

The article, in November's Young Liberal Voice, is signed by editor Tex Enemark.

Noting a drop in Liberal popularity according to a recent poll, it says the cabinet "seems to be slipping into the same rut that the Diefenbaker government fell into — that of fearing to act because such action would erode electoral support."

Wilson's Challenge:

'Stop Plunder By Americans'

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson challenged Europe Monday to join an "urgent" seven-point plan to halt "American plunder" of European industry.

Press Strike Near

VANCOUVER (CP) — Strike notice was served Monday on Pacific Press Ltd. by the Vancouver-New Westminster newspaper guild and three of four craft unions involved in contract disputes.

Pacific Press prints Vancouver's two daily newspapers, the morning Province and the evening Sun.

Serving of notice by the International Typographical Union, the Mailers' Union and the Stereotypers' Union was announced by Len Guy, president of the Vancouver local of the ITU.

NO DATE GIVEN

The guild and the three craft unions can strike any time after the 48-hour notice period. No date has been announced.

William McLeman, executive secretary of the guild, said his union served strike notice, required by provincial labor law, during a negotiating meeting between the company and the guild. Negotiations are continuing, he said.

Mr. Guy said the unions decided to act because the company has not been bargaining realistically.

"One large American company today spends more on research and development every year than the annual trading turnover of the largest European company in the same field," he said at the annual Lord Mayor's dinner in London's financial district.

European firms are operating on too small a scale, he continued, and the technological threshold is getting higher year by year.

"We have decided therefore that a new impetus must now be given towards creating the basis for a European technology which is a categorical imperative for all of us," said Wilson.

"We cannot afford to postpone until British entry into the Common Market has been negotiated and ratified the efforts that must urgently be made to create the essential technological component in the new and enlarged European community."

This was how Wilson suggested Europe might meet the American effort:

Remarks 'Gratuitously Offensive'

'Utterly Without Value'

By RON COLLISTER
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — State Secretary Judy LaMarsh, beset by demands for her resignation, faces a Commons committee today.

With a blast from the CBC board of directors reddening her ears, she headed off to meet the Commons committee studying her bill to revamp broadcasting in Canada.

On Monday, the directors accused her of making statements that were "utterly without practical value and gratuitously offensive."

EARLIER CHARGE
They rallied to the defence of CBC president Alphonse Ouimet, who has already tackled the trouble-prone minister over her charges of "rotten management" in the Crown agency.

Eight of the nine directors, including Ouimet, authored the new blast, which sprayed both Miss LaMarsh and the government.

The government was indicted for its silence in not speaking out in the CBC-LaMarsh battle.

NO COMMENT
Monday night, Prime Minister Pearson said he had no comment until he had talked to his minister.

The new CBC volcano erupted a few weeks ago when Miss LaMarsh, the minister responsible to Parliament for the CBC, charged rotten management.

Ouimet wrote to her and demanded evidence supporting her charge so that the CBC could investigate.

SHORT PAUSE
Miss LaMarsh retorted that she was not answerable to officials, only to the prime minister and Parliament, and she did not produce the evidence.

A short pause followed while Ouimet discussed the next skirmish in the battle.

It came Monday — the directors' statement, agreed at a special Sunday meeting.

REGRETTABLE LAPSE
The directors rejected categorically Miss LaMarsh's "sweeping allegations of rotten management."

They came as a "regrettable lapse" from the minister through whom the CBC reported to Parliament.

"General attacks of this nature on public officials or Crown corporations are foreign

New Miss Canada

Carol MacKinnon, 19, of Summerside, P.E.I., was named Miss Canada, 1968, in Toronto pageant Monday. She had earlier won swimsuit contest with 35-25-35 figure. Runner-up was Merrilyn Gann, Vancouver, who was also talent contest winner. Victoria's Margaret Vickers was not among finalists.—(CP)

Freed Trio Home

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Three U.S. Army sergeants released by the Viet Cong after years of captivity, returned to the U.S. Monday night.

One was taken to hospital at Washington and the other two met with family and officials at Fort Bragg.

M. Sgt. Edward R. Johnson of Seaside, Calif., was taken by stretcher to Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington suffering from dysentery and malnutrition.

The military plane that met the trio at Kennedy Airport in New York continued to Fort Bragg with S. Sgt. James E. Jackson of Talcott, W. Va., and M. Sgt. Daniel Lee Pitzer of Spring Lake, N.C.

Pitzer's wife and two children had been waiting to greet him in New York but he was whisked onto a military plane for the flight to Washington and Fort Bragg without seeing them. Their reunion was to be later at Fort Bragg. Beyond saying they were glad to be home, the three had no word for reporters.

Levy Loses Appeal Bid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. Army Capt. Howard Levy, sentenced to three years in prison by a court martial for his anti-Vietnam war activities, was rebuffed Monday on an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Without comment in a brief order, the justices refused to review a lower court denial of Levy's claim that he was entitled to a civilian court hearing on the constitutionality of the military charges against him.

U.S. Private Guilty Of Refusing Orders

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A general court martial Monday convicted U.S. Army Pte. Ronald Lockman, 21, of refusing to obey orders to go to Vietnam. He was sentenced to 2½ years at hard labor and dishonorable discharge.

The court deliberated only 11 minutes at the end of a trial that evoked violent confrontation between civilian spectators and military police soon after Lockman had pleaded not guilty.

The court decided the sentence for the Philadelphia Negro in a second deliberation.

The army prosecutor, demanding a maximum penalty of five years, said Lockman had committed one of the most serious of military crimes — refusing to obey lawful orders.

The case automatically will go to a military review board.

On the witness stand, Lockman said: "I could not subject myself to the atrocities being committed by our soldiers in Vietnam."

Lockman's lawyer said he would ask the U.S. Supreme Court to act on a habeas corpus protest that the court martial barred challenges of the Vietnam war's constitutionality.

Seven of the outside demonstrators were arrested and charged with trespassing.

'Last Good Chance'

NEW YORK (AP) — Senator Robert F. Kennedy says the United States cast away last winter what may have been "the last best chance" to go to the negotiating table in Vietnam.

Ookpiks Awaiting Revived Market

OTTAWA (CP)—The northern development department has 24,883 Eskimo-made ookpik dolls waiting to be disposed of through a wholesaler, the Commons learned Monday.

A written reply tabled by Northern Development Minister Laing refused, however, to disclose ookpik sales and production figures of the Eskimo cooperative at Fort Chimo, Que., during East Coast seal-killing operations.

But the New York Democrat adds that, because the alternatives to negotiations are "so unacceptable," an effort to hold peace talks "should and must be made." (See also page 3.)

The chances for negotiation

reached their height during the winter of 1966-67 when North Vietnam dropped its earlier insistence on U.S. withdrawal as a precondition.

FROM BOOK

Kennedy's remarks, in an article in the current issue of Look Magazine, are from his forthcoming book, To Seek A Newer World, to be published by Doubleday and Co., Inc.

Kennedy says: "In the winter of 1966-67, important United States officials felt we were on the brink of a military victory, that our position was considerably stronger and that of our adversary considerably weaker than had been true a year before."

"MORE SERIOUS"

"Therefore, they thought, we could afford to stiffen our position. And we did."

Kennedy says the U.S. government's public pronouncements at the time indicated it wanted "just almost any step" for a bombing halt, when in fact, "our actual demands have

Johnson Support Plunges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Louis Harris Poll indicates public confidence in President Johnson is at a record low, while the Gallup Poll shows U.S. voters have more faith in the Republican than the Democratic party.

The Harris Poll, published Monday in the Washington Post, said public confidence in Johnson personally and in his handling of the Vietnam war had dropped to 23 per cent of those responding late last month.

The Gallup Poll, on the other hand, said its nationwide survey indicated 30 per cent of those responding had more faith in the Republican than in the Democratic party to handle the war, racial strife and the high cost of living.

Four Americans Quit War

TOKYO (UPI)—Four young American seamen Monday said they have deserted from the aircraft carrier USS Intrepid in protest against the Vietnam war.

Speaking on a sound movie made by a Japanese antiwar group which has been hiding them, the men said they wanted asylum. But Japan is treaty-obliged to hand them back to U.S. authorities if they are caught.

However, a Japanese government spokesman said it would be hard to find the sailors and added they may already have left the country.

The Peace for Vietnam Committee refused to disclose the whereabouts of the men, identified as Michael Alfred Lindner, 19, John M. Barilla, Richard D. Bailey, 19, and Craig W. Anderson, 20.

The U.S. Navy confirmed the identifications. It said the men went absent without leave when the Intrepid called at Yokosuka on a rest and recreation respite from the Vietnam theatre Oct. 17-25.

The peace committee is headed by novelist Makoto Oda, a former Fulbright Scholar at Harvard University. Oda, author of a book called America, expressed the organization's support for the "brave action" of the four.

to the Canadian political tradition," they declared.

For these reasons, the directors believed that in the interests of public confidence in the CBC, it was important to reject the minister's utterances and "to hope that they soon will be forgotten, as they deserve to be."

Flood Control Benefit

Overdue Payment On Way from U.S.

The overdue $12,000,000 in U.S. flood control benefits under the Columbia River Treaty will shortly be on its way to provincial coffers, Premier Bennett said Monday.

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin informed the premier by phone from Ottawa that the payment, owing since the Duncan Lake Dam on the Columbia was completed last July 31, had finally been approved by the U.S. Congress.

Premier Bennett said he was confident the payment would include interest on the money for the entire period it was overdue. While this wasn't spelled out in the treaty, he said, it was implied in statements that the U.S. advance payments plus interest would finance the construction of three Columbia dams in B.C.

The premier was asked whether the interest would be calculated at 6.5 per cent, which he had previously indicated B.C. was seeking, and he replied: "Aye."

Ho Chi Minh Reported Ill

European partner ready to respond on a field which can yield worthwhile industrial results.

Urgent multi-lateral discussion with "our European partners" designed to create a new dynamic influence in European technology.

Confederation of British industry to discuss with European organizations ground rules for industrial co-operation.

Britain to join with other governments and industry here and on the continent in sponsoring a multilateral European institute of technology to examine case by case, area by area, industry by industry, the means to greater co-operation.

British consultation with both sides of industry to produce views on how "European companies" transcending frontiers may be formed.

Britain's Board of Trade is prepared to examine with industry and prepare the steps needed to bring British practice in patents, monopolies and restrictive practices and company law in line with wider economic integration and the Treaty of Rome.

The British government has already discussed with the Trade Union Congress, and with European labor organizations what can be done to further these objectives and to promote not only industrial, but social aims of a collective European technology.

Wilson emphasized they are positive aims and "we mean business."

TRADE IMBALANCE

However Wilson stressed that his offer of an industrial partnership which would establish huge research, manufacturing and distribution combines is not meant to be a substitute for British membership in the Common Market.

Wilson spoke against a backdrop of increasing British concern over an imbalance in British foreign trade and its impact on the pound.

Sir Leslie O'Brien, governor of the Bank of England, spent the weekend in Switzerland amid fresh reports that he had arranged fresh international credit and other support for the pound.

Wilson, in his speech, warned that today's monthly trade figures would be "utterly distorted and concealed by the effect of recent dock strikes" in London and Liverpool.

been much more serious than our public statements have indicated."

The United States is in no better position now than a year ago, Kennedy says, and will not be in a better position a year from now.

"I continue to believe that we should go to negotiations in an effort to reach a peaceful and honorable settlement. Perhaps we cannot, but we shall never know until we try."

Kennedy repeats his belief that the bombing of the North will not bring an end to the war, rather that it may be prolonging it. Stopping the bombing, he says, would be only a part of a co-ordinated plan for negotiation and settlement.

He says one argument against a cessation of bombing last winter was that the United States could not be sure Hanoi and Moscow would then negotiate, that Hanoi's statements were conflicting.

"At the height of the Cuban missile crisis of 1962, President Kennedy received two conflicting messages from Premier Khrushchev: The first offered to remove the missiles under acceptable conditions; the next day, the demand was for unacceptable concessions in return."

SECOND IGNORED

"President Kennedy simply ignored the second statement and announced his agreement to the first. The crisis was thus resolved without conflict. Such a technique might have yielded fruitful results in 1967."

The Vietnam war, Kennedy says, has "estranged and alienated" the United States from its closest friends in the Western alliance. He says he found in Europe a belief the U.S. is becoming "dangerously irrelevant."

Three Small Meals Urged Instead of One Rich Feast

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: How is it possible for me to be overweight? My husband agrees with me. I eat once a day.

I don't eat sweets, never cared for them. I do all his jobs all day, exercising all day, no food all day, no water or coffee — or if I drink coffee, it is black.

I am 55, gained 40 pounds in three years, height, five-foot-three. I would like to get back to the 130 pounds I used to be. What's the answer, doctor? —S.B.

It may be "impossible" but you can't argue with the scales.

There is no way to get around the fact that person can gain weight ONLY if he or she consumes more calories than he uses up. I grant that some people use up calories faster than others, but fat is the difference between what you eat and what you use.

So one question is this: What do you eat in that one meal a day? And how much? Staying away from sweets is fine, but if you stow away large quantities of starches, that can be fattening.

What about fats? Because fat ounce for ounce, contains about twice the calories of carbohydrates and protein.

One meal a day won't keep weight off if the meal contains more calories than you need for a day's work.

In fact, weight experiments with animals have shown that those getting their daily ration of calories in a single meal a day gain weight whereas those eating the same calories divided into several meals do not gain weight.

BLACK COFFEE

I don't see that you gain anything at all by avoiding water or black coffee, neither having any calories. (Do you drink beer, by any chance? Or pop? Both are rich in calories.)

In any event, I think you would be better off eating three small meals a day than one big one.

Possibly the big problem is that you don't really know which foods are high in calories and which are not.

Why Is U.S. Fighting?

Johnson Wins Backing Against Cleric's Tirade

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson, opening a top-level review of the Vietnam war, was defended Monday against a preacher who told him to his face he had failed to explain why Americans were fighting there.

While Johnson was receiving an encouraging war report from Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, members of Congress denounced—and the governor of Virginia regretted—the remarks by an Episcopal minister who told the first family that Americans were "appalled" and "mystified" by the war.

The clergyman, Rev. Cotesworth Pinckney Lewis of Williamsburg, Va., was assailed by House Democrats and Virginia Gov. Mills Godwin wrote Johnson "to make it clear that I regret the incident."

Lewis, looking down on Johnson from his pulpit, made the remarks in a sermon at his Williamsburg church where Johnson attended services following the end of a Veterans' Day weekend cross-country tour of U.S. military facilities.

Johnson returned to Washington for talks Monday with Bunker, Gen. William Westmoreland, and others on the progress of the war.

"I think it's fair to say that nobody ever heard of this preacher before yesterday and nobody ever will again," said Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio. "And it will be no great loss."

Lewis meanwhile went into seclusion after receiving about 50 telephone calls, most of them critical of his Sunday sermon.

Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okl., said, "this seems to me to be the first time anybody has tried to make a captive audience of the president of the United States."

Gov. Godwin wrote that "the president of the United States is always welcome in Virginia and that the people of

Asked to comment on the governor's letter, Lewis said he regretted "any misunderstanding that may have arisen. Every effort was made to make the visit of the president helpful, and to ask for God's guidance and peace for the world."

Japanese-U.S. Talks

Frank Parley Hope of Sato

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Prime Minister Sato of Japan, arriving to confer with President Johnson, said Monday night he expected to have a "frank exchange of views on matters of mutual concern to our two countries."

Sato is expected to discuss with Johnson and other U.S. officials the Tokyo government's desire to have the U.S. return to Japan the Ryukyu and Bonin islands, held by the U.S. since the end of the Second World War.

Sato, who described Japan and the U.S. as "two partners facing each other across the Pacific," said he hoped his talks with Johnson would place U.S.-Japan relations "on an even firmer basis and become increasingly fruitful and mutually beneficial."

At a brief stopover in Seattle, Sato said he would discuss with Johnson ways to find a peaceful solution to the Vietnam war. Japanese diplomats are understood to have made discreet efforts to stop the fighting, but were rebuffed by Hanoi.

Cong Preparing Ground For Coalition Parleys?

SAIGON (AP)—There are signs that hard-pressed Viet Cong guerrilla leaders may be preparing to seek negotiations with the South Vietnamese regime with the aim of setting up a coalition government.

Newly-captured Communist documents indicate the Viet Cong are trying to seize strategic areas and thus put themselves in a stronger bargaining position.

BORNE OUT

Intelligence reports appear to bear out this strategy.

South Vietnamese Maj.-Gen. Nguyen Van Manh, talking with a reporter, predicted: "The Viet Cong will start negotiations soon."

Manh, commander of the 16 provinces south of Saigon in the 4th Corps area which embraces the Mekong Delta, long-time stronghold of the Viet Cong, said his prediction is based on documents recently seized by South Vietnamese troops.

One document disclosed Viet Cong plans to infiltrate and capture two provinces north of Saigon and on the border of Cambodia.

The document was a directive issued by the Viet Cong's high command, known as COSVN—Central Office of South Vietnam, based in Tay Ninh province.

MAJOR ATTACKS

This directive disclosed plans to launch large-scale attacks in Phuoc Long and Binh Long provinces by Communist troops infiltrating from Cambodia.

The provinces would be occupied, the directive said, for the purpose of entering into negotiations with the South Vietnamese government. During the period of negotiations, said the plan, the troop buildup could continue in both provinces.

If negotiations failed, Viet Cong troops in the two provinces would be ordered to occupy Saigon, the South Vietnamese capital 60 to 80 miles to the south.

As far as could be learned, there have been no approaches, either official or clandestine, for such talks.

RELUCTANT

Moreover, the South Vietnamese government, the United States and their allies would be reluctant, if not opposed, to undertake such negotiations.

The anti-Communist allies would not be likely to enter talks without the North Vietnamese. The allies say Ho Chi Minh's Hanoi regime controls and directs the whole Communist effort in the South.

Defections Reduced By North

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. officials said Monday Viet Cong defections have been halved in recent weeks, and blamed massive Communist coercion and counterpropaganda.

Since Oct. 1, they said, 1,741 Viet Cong surrendered to a U.S. psychological warfare program which offers a new start in life. During the same period last year, 2,063 defected.

The U.S. officials said, that despite the recent slump, more than 25,000 Viet Cong have defected since the start of this year. That exceeds last year's 12-month total by 10,000.

Defector Spotted In Russia

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Kim Philby, the Briton alleged to have spied for Russia for 30 years before fleeing to Moscow in 1963, met three Western journalists by chance here Sunday.

The journalists saw Philby at a concert in the Moscow Conservatory. He was with Melinda MacLean, divorced wife of former British diplomat Donald MacLean who defected to Russia in 1951.

The couple seemed surprised and embarrassed by the encounter and refused to answer any questions or to confirm reports they married following Mrs. MacLean's divorce last summer.

Philby at first refused even to speak English, but eventually he changed his mind and said, "I have no statement to make on any subject whatsoever."

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Army troops beat off a ferocious charge Monday night by North Vietnamese regulars in the jungled hills of South Vietnam's central highlands around Dak To. The Communists broke off their assault after a two-hour fight.

The Americans had weathered 10 hours of mortar and rocket assaults during the day, then launched a series of helicopter assaults in hopes of finding Communist reinforcements. U.S. intelligence reports said were shifted to the Dak To zone from the area of Pleiku, about 50 miles to the south.

NORTH LOSSES

Up to Monday's fighting, the North Vietnamese losses had been put at 635 men killed. Their casualties in the charge were not immediately known. American losses were unofficially reported as nine men killed and 25 wounded in the Communist charge. This would bring U.S. casualties in 11 days of fighting around Dak To to 101 killed and 525 wounded.

A broadcast dispatch of Hanoi's Vietnam news agency claimed the Communist forces had inflicted nearly 1,300 casualties on Americans and South Vietnamese government troops fighting in Dak To.

EVENLY MATCHED

By rough estimate, both sides are evenly matched in manpower with 6,000 men each. The North Vietnamese have five regiments in the area, including a regiment equipped with heavy rockets.

U.S. officials expressed belief the over-all Communist objective was to gain an "impact victory" to embarrass South Vietnam's new civilian-based government. But at the same time, Dak To is important to them because it straddles a key infiltration route into the central highlands from North Vietnam via Communist-held portions of neighboring Laos.

The charge at Dak To, 270 miles north of Saigon, capped a series of smaller Communist assaults in the central highlands on U.S. and South Vietnamese government positions and outposts. Officials said these strikes were aimed at drawing anti-Communist forces from pacification programs in the area.

RAIDS REDUCED

The northern monsoons again cut into the number of U.S. air strikes against North Vietnam Sunday, the U.S. command reported. Strikes were held to 73 and most of those were in the southern panhandle.

Saigon officials also reported U.S. planes dropped 3,200,000 propaganda leaflets during the weekend into the North Vietnamese cities of Hanoi, Haiphong and Nam Dinh. The leaflets bore the pictures of President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam and gave an account of the country's new elected government.

Wise Caution

MAYOR HUGH STEPHEN has been subjected to considerable criticism in certain quarters for his refusal to reach a high-speed decision on the establishment of a city convention centre. But no matter what opinion is held by those persons directly interested in the matter the mayor deserves a vote of thanks from most of our citizens for his cautious approach.

It has, for instance, yet to be proved that the creation of a convention centre would result in a vast increase in Victoria's tourist influx. There is no guarantee that once such a centre is built—at the ratepayer's expense—conventioners from all over North America would rush to use it.

Recent Canadian Tourist Association figures show that there are 20,000 conventions held annually in the United States and Canada, and of these some 50 per cent are conventions attended by less than 300 people with another 20 per cent made up of groups of 100 persons or less.

Victoria's present accommodation facilities are already able to cope with the smaller conventions which make up the majority of such gatherings across the continent. If we attempt to move into an operation designed to cater to the larger 1,000-or-more-delegate type of meetings we would have to compete directly with the giant metropolitan cities of Canada and the U.S. for the privilege of hosting them.

This, of course, is not to say that convention business is not valuable. It is, in fact, recognized all over the world as bringing in tourist dollars to the community. In a recent speech, Mr. Desmond Plummer, head of the Greater London Council, strongly advocated building a vast international convention centre in the British capital by stating:

"Convention business is big business these days and brings with it very big benefits in foreign currency not only for London but for the whole country."

But, he added, his support for the convention centre is subject to one important rider: "The GLC (very broadly an equivalent to the Greater Victoria Inter-municipal committee) should not put its hand in its own—or rather the ratepayers'—pocket" to pay for it.

Happily for Victoria ratepayers Mayor Stephen seems to be thinking along the same lines.

Ambitious Men

THAT THE PRIME MINISTER should have to admonish cabinet colleagues to put aside their personal ambitions and attend to the duties of their high offices is evidence, surely, of their singular lack of responsibility. Such men must have forgotten their obligations.

For the second time, according to Ottawa sources, the prime minister has felt it necessary to demand that aspiring successors to the Liberal Party leadership curtail their campaigning and concentrate on their jobs.

The prime minister's criticism is reported to be aimed chiefly at Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp, External Affairs Minister Paul Martin and, only recently appointed to the portfolio, Transport Minister Paul Hellyer.

All of them, as a result, cancelled appearances at the Alberta Liberal convention at the weekend.

Last winter the same three ministers hurriedly abandoned plans to attend the Quebec Liberal convention.

Observers have noted recently the prime minister's unusual asperity in and out of the House. There was speculation as to the cause. Was he disturbed at the continuing absenteeism of members of cabinet? He showed annoyance at the resumption of the parliamentary session last September when half his ministers failed to appear.

It has been charged previously that the Liberals too often put party before people; but in this instance it seems ministers have put their own interests above anything else.

The prime minister can be forgiven his annoyance and if the public feels outrage there is good cause for it.

Mysteries Aloft

THE CANADIAN people are entitled to ask, along with curious members of the House of Commons, why Mr. Leo Cadieux, the minister of national defence, is determined to keep from the public the results of study of recent and recurring sightings of "unidentified flying objects" across the country.

What is there to hide?

The Royal Canadian Air Force team which examined photographs taken by Warren Smith of Calgary came up with the information that the airborne object was from 11 to 14 feet in depth at the centre and from 40 to 50 feet in diameter.

As to what it was, they refused to express an opinion, presumably because they were under instructions, nor would they guess at its speed or means of propulsion.

But obviously it was some tangible vehicle, no reflection on the clouds or a trick of light.

On November 6, Lorne Groves walked out of the bush after a six-day search for material he believed he had seen fall from an unidentified flying object.

He seems to have found something. He brought out earth samples and what he called "silver droppings" he had scraped from a hole in the ground which showed evidence of fire about its rim.

Mr. Groves' appreciation of what he saw in the sky would not have the same weight as the opinions of air force experts. But it would be interesting to know his opinion, just the same. Was it a bird, was it a plane or was it Superman?

If Mr. Cadieux and his experts do not know, why not say so?

They leave the public with the uneasy feeling that what they suspect may be so horrendous disclosure might cause panic. But Canadians are not children to hide their heads under the covers from fear of the unknown.

Rather we are a reasonably mature people fascinated by the idea of some sort of super-intelligence which may be directing flights around us and rather resentful that we should be excluded from whatever knowledge, theories or suspicions the authorities may hold.

WELL.... SO MUCH FOR HIS LEADERSHIP

Good Reason for Mr. Drury to Beam

By RICHARD JACKSON, Colonist Ottawa Bureau

SOMETHING'S got to be completely cockeyed.

Here were the honorable members of the House of Commons, just the other day, laboriously working over the current federal spending estimates, topping $10,000,000,000—sure, that's ten BILLION dollars—with the best part of the money already spent.

Most of the dough had to be down the drain because the current estimates cover federal spending for the government's financial year ending next March 31—and seven of the 12 months already are history.

Add to that the costly fact that having estimated its money requirements at $10,000,000,000, the government twice now has been back to the Commons, passing its hat for further contributions in the form of two sets of supplementary—which, in plain English, means "more please"—estimates.

Now, everybody on Parliament Hill knows that much of the ever-increasing cost of government can be charged to the bureaucracy's preoccupation with what's known as "empire-building."

You build an Ottawa "empire" by dreaming up new "programs," as they're called, within a federal department to rationalize the hiring of more staff.

For the more people you have under you, the bigger wheel you become.

And so, for the last couple of years, staff has been hired at the dizzying clip of 1,000-a-month.

The greatest of all the Ottawa "empires" has to be the industry department, created IN-SIDE the defence production department.

This was "empire-building" on a heretofore imaginative scale.

No mere dreaming up of new "programs" within a department, this—but the infinitely more sophisticated gimmick of fabricating a new bureaucratic empire of a department-within-a-department.

When it all happened, only four years ago, defence production had a staff of 3,276 and industry had 33.

Now defence production has 4,529 and industry 529.

But what 529?

It takes only a quick glance into the industry estimates to show that 462 of those 529 rate $14,000 or better, with 38 in the $20,000 range.

This is such a piece of sheer bureaucratic brilliance in "empire-building" that even the New Democrats—and they do not on big government—are dazzled.

Just listen to Reid Scott, New Democratic MP for Toronto-Danforth, describe what's happened. He speaks more in sorrow than in anger and with certain overtones of wry amazement, perhaps even a hint of grudging admiration.

With a tip of the Scott hat in the Commons to Industry Minister Charles Drury, he says when the department's $91,000,000 spending program is being examined:

"The minister has learned well the great art of Ottawa. Not only does he know his way around as a former deputy minister ('Bud' Drury was a defence department civilian deputy) but he has mastered the fine art of 'empire-building.'"

"The size of his department has increased in inverse ratio to its performance. It has shrunk in size (Reid Scott's arithmetic is wildly off, for the department has mushroomed by 16 times its initial size).

"And no matter what the Opposition says, the minister goes about in his lively way surrounded by his prize whiz-kids (no doubt some of those 38 wheels who rate that $20,000 or better).

"He is determined to cling to his view that the Opposition is a bunch of dunderheads who really don't know anything anyway, for he merely tolerates us as his estimates go through the Commons."

Check.

Never, possibly, has Reid Scott been so right.

For while he was telling "Bud" Drury what a dandy little "empire-builder" he was, the industry minister just sat there beaming.

He had reason to beam, too. Because for all their complaining about government waste and extravagance, neither Reid Scott nor any other MP so much as lopped a penny off those $91,000,000 of estimates.

U.S. Whites and Negroes Prisoners of Childhood Brainwashing

Only Miracle Can Prevent Ghetto Uprising

"To this day," my Negro host is saying, "I can recall clearly my state of mind at the age of five. By then the idea had been firmly planted in my brain that white was superior, white stood for good and beauty, and angels. Black was inferior, black was bad, black was the devil."

The speaker is a well-educated man of about 35, employed by the United States government on education administration. He is sitting with his wife in their sparsely furnished living room in Wyoming Avenue, Washington, on the "frontier" between predominantly white and predominantly black neighborhoods two miles due north of the White House.

"By the age of five we had all been taught, white and black alike," he goes on, "that the Caucasian race is fine featured, pale-complexioned, with fair straight hair. The Africans, we had been told, are a primitive ugly people with flat noses and thick lips."

"I remember standing in a corner by myself when nobody was looking, massaging the sides of my nose to make it slim, and pursing my lips to make them less thick. Later, I, and my Negro friends, always went to bed with our hair greased and flattened and held in place by a stocking cap to keep it that way."

By some miracle of psychological adjustment my Negro host is no longer imprisoned in the cage of implanted inferiority complex that enclosed his youth. He can speak dispassionately about the brainwashing from cradlehood that has produced the present states of mind of the 20,000,000 Negroes in the United States.

During four weeks in the United States I spent five days entirely in the society of Negroes, in Harlem and in Washington, with the well-to-do, with the middle-class, and above all with the really poor, dejected and resentful, living in ghettos.

Five days of talks, of visits to a Negro university, and to Negro houses, their seamy shops, and rubbish-strewn ghetto streets, must surely leave the foreigner, as I am left, appalled by the prevailing Negro mood yet largely in sympathy with it: above all, filled with dread for what it may mean to American society not many months from now.

The election of Negro mayors in Cleveland and Gray in last week's elections were hopeful flashes in a dark picture; but it would be wrong to imagine that it will make any real impact on the mood and lot of the great mass of Negroes in the cities.

The tragedy is that the white is as much a prisoner as the Negro of the childhood brainwashing he undergoes. By the age of five the average white child just knows he is superior to the negro, no matter how much biological, historical and educational evidence to the contrary he may be given later.

Until lately the ambitious American Negro—and ambition can still only survive in the stoutest Negro heart—who wanted to "make it" has thought automatically in terms of modelling himself on the white man, climbing the white ladder, breaking at last into the white world. Some have succeeded.

Despite unimaginable handicaps in and out of school they have become educated, got reasonable jobs, caught up with the white man. And has the white man held out a welcoming hand? A laughable question.

By NICHOLAS CARROLL
Of the London Sunday Times
From Washington

He runs away from the clever Negro as from the plague. He takes his children away at school. He moves out to all-white suburbs. He fears the successful Negro as much as he despises the smiling, fawning "Uncle Toms." Only in the fields of sport, entertainment and the armed forces is he forced to concede the Negro's equality, if not superiority.

Having caught up with the white man, the "successful" Negro finds that the supposedly superior white man is in fact often morally inferior, filled with hate and fear for him. White cops, unbelievably brutalized, rich to shoot or assault him.

Is it surprising that the young Negro in the United States today wants to turn his back on the white man? He can only see one way out of the cage now; to build up on an all-Negro base, and eventually deal with the white man on equal terms. Black power seems to be no more complicated a philosophy than that.

To the young Negro the white world remains essentially hostile. Now listen to a 28-year-old Negro, talking to me quietly as we eat ice-cream together in a drab chain drug-store in the Cardozo ghetto of Washington. He is not a university graduate, but he is extremely articulate.

"Some of us," he says, "are pretty bright and smart. This surprises and annoys the white man. We can move around in his world, talk his language, but he doesn't like it. He gives us a smile and a handshake, but there's nothing behind it."

"Well, we can smile too. We can act as well as he does. But we belong to our own world, and that's where we've got to operate from if we're going to get out of this trap."

This careful, thoughtful mode of speech, used when we are alone, is suddenly dropped when we meet his friends in the ghetto, in one of the local housing offices, for instance. He chatters away to his bearded friends in a racy Negro argot full of "hep" and "dig" and "baby," punctuated with high-pitched giggling laughter, hard for a foreigner to follow.

An older Negro later described this to me as their verbal security blanket. The automatic solidarity of these young men is palpable. They need no organized conspiracy, though unquestionably it exists. They are behind the Rap Brown philosophy to a man. The old leaders like Martin Luther King are out: note how silent these have been of late.

Young men like these are packed into dozens of Negro ghettos in American big cities. The pressure in them grows menacingly as Negroes from the south flock north in search of better jobs.

I have seen single rooms in which a woman lives with nine children; such a thing is commonplace. These ghettos are human nuclear bombs, just awaiting detonation by some sharp act of violence.

And what is the reaction of most whites? It seems to be expressed in the discussions in Detroit on providing the police with more carbines and machine-guns, armored personnel carriers, gas grenades, gasmasks and bulletproof vests; and in Newark city council's allocation of over $280,000 to buy new anti-riot equipment.

I know that many white Americans are aware of the ghastly threat hanging over their country. But I believe too few are yet ready to admit their historic share of the responsibility and to do something practical about it while there is still time.

The present dimensions of the poverty program are ludicrous; if the will to provide more funds were there the money could certainly be found, the Vietnam war notwithstanding.

If the country does not rock to the roar of the detonating ghettos next summer, in the middle of the presidential election, it will be a miracle. I don't see how it is to be avoided; time is too short, attitudes are too inflexible.

I recall what a young Negro in Washington told me when I expressed anxiety about the possible shedding of blood in the ghettos next summer. "All you are really worried about," he said, "is the shedding of white blood. You don't really mind so much about ours. The trouble is that not enough white blood has been shed yet."

I fear he may be proved right.

Canadian Leaders Show Interest

Free Trade Policy Goal

By ARCH MacKENZIE
From Washington

The complex international political situation of the 1960s suggests the "achievement of a broad free-trading system to the end of the next decade or so has now become a relevant and realistic goal for U.S. policy," says a new study paper.

"With some Canadian leaders showing interest in broad approaches to free trade, the major uncertainties centre on the European Economic Community and the United Kingdom," it suggests.

It urges a serious and thorough American study of the free trade question on the lines being followed by examinations in Canada and Britain.

The study paper is published by the subcommittee on foreign economic policy of the joint economic committee of Congress.

The authors are Sperry Lea, director of research for the Canadian-American committee of the National Planning Association, and Theodore Geiger, the association's chief of international studies.

The National Planning Association is a private group devoted to planning in business, labor and agriculture.

The report says the current protectionist wave in Congress, in the wake of the tariff reductions negotiated at the Kennedy round, is hopelessly temporary. President Johnson has threatened to veto any measure for import quotas that gets as far as his desk.

It says the "new period in world politics is much more complex, ambiguous and intractable than that of the immediate post-war decades and the possibilities of grand designs and other major world political and economic restructuring become correspondingly more remote."

Thus, "it is no longer necessary—indeed, it probably would be counter-productive—to place much emphasis on an Atlantic community rationale."

The U.S. should pursue a free trade system through the traditional format of multi-lateral talks—as demonstrated by the six tariff conferences culminating in the Kennedy round—or make a start with a major trading partner such as Canada or Britain, it says.

Such a system would envisage the addition of the six-country European Common Market, Britain, Japan, Australia, New Zealand and the other European Countries now linked with Britain in the European Free Trade Association.

The study expresses some pessimism about a seventh tariff-reduction conference making good progress in the near future and says Britain's success in gaining entry to the Common Market, as well as the growth pattern of the market itself, will influence developments.

BACKGROUND

Surrender to Israel Out of Question

Nasser Hopes for Peace But Prepares for New War

President Nasser is said on the highest authority to be stressing a continuing desire for a political solution of the Middle East crisis—so long as it does not contain terms of surrender to Israel.

Should peace efforts at the United Nations or elsewhere fail to find a solution acceptable to the Arabs, then Nasser is understood to be prepared to continue a state of war against Israel until his country and the combined Arabs develop their strength to drive the Israelis back to their pre-June lines by force.

The Soviet Union is understood to have accomplished a remarkable task in quickly helping Egypt to replace most if not all of the weaponry she lost in the disastrous six-day war last June.

At the moment, this rapid recovery is believed to have restored considerably Egypt's defensive ability behind the present cease-fire line along the Suez Canal, but not the offensive ability to cross the canal in strength enough to drive the Israelis out of the Sinai Peninsula.

Although Nasser reportedly still clings to a faint, albeit dwindling, hope that political action in the United Nations will achieve the withdrawal of the Israelis without the use of force, he is understood to have made his contingency plans in the event of a breakdown of these efforts.

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS
From Cairo

This involves, first, a sweeping reorganization of the top command of his armed forces, much of which has already been done, and a program of intensified training of those forces in the use of their new weapons.

Second, renewed efforts to create a modern society in Egypt capable of backing his forces, and third, efforts to tighten the alliance of all of the Arab states in the military, political and economic fields.

Nasser reportedly would like to couple this with an all-out diplomatic and propaganda offensive throughout the world aimed at improving the Arab image abroad and at gaining worldwide support for the Arab cause among the nations of eastern and western Europe, Africa, Asia and Latin America.

This latter plan would apparently have the two-fold purpose of exerting worldwide pressure against Israel and of isolating the United States as the sole supporter of the Israelis.

The Egyptian leader is reported still to hold to a basic hope—though dwindling at the moment—that there will be an improvement in his country's shattered relations with the United States.

But he feels that such a process can only be started if the United States shifts its present position and unequivocally pressures Israel to pull back to her pre-June lines as a prerequisite for any kind of negotiations to settle the other Middle East issues.

These views of the Egyptian president were reflected in the regular weekly editorial by Nasser's close confidant, Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, editor-in-chief of the newspaper Al-Ahram.

Heikal said that efforts at a political solution in the United Nations had almost reached a "point of despair," and that now the only alternative was to continue the resistance to the Israeli occupation by force.

He said, however, that the time spent since the June war in seeking a political solution had not been wasted since it had given Egypt and her Arab allies the breathing spell required to recover from the shock of their losses and prepare for the inevitable use of force.

"The continuation of the war is inevitable," Heikal wrote, "though this does not mean the resumption of fighting tomorrow or the day after. It is more probable that we shall have to face a long and bitter war."

We asked Mrs. B. Y. Hilke of Gold River what she likes best about Electric Heating:

"It's economical, and so comfortable"

"I think the room-by-room temperature control must be the reason. No heat is wasted. Our electric heating system gives even, draft-free heat, too. We're really happy with it." The people who have electric heating say it's economical.

New Badge Eliminates RCAF Initials, Crown

By DAVE MCINTOSH
OTTAWA (CP) — Air Defence Command has jumped the gun on armed forces unification.

Though the unification bill which was passed by Parliament in April has not yet been proclaimed law, the command has issued a new badge eliminating the crown and the initials RCAF.

A spokesman for the command headquarters at North Bay said Monday the new name — Canadian Forces Air Defence Command — was adopted because names of military establishments in Canada have been changed to "Canadian forces bases."

AT HEADQUARTERS
A spokesman at defence headquarters here said, however, that the Royal Canadian Air Force will continue to exist until the unification legislation becomes law.

The command has chosen for its central figure the bluish-grey long-tailed jaeger, native to the Arctic.

However, the bird is native not only to the Canadian Arctic. It breeds also in Alaska, Greenland, Spitzbergen, northern Russia and Siberia and on Novaya Zemlya, the Soviet island where megaton bombs have been tested by the Russians.

The jaeger symbolizes the fighter planes (U.S. jet Voodoos) used by the command. Lightning bolts on the badge represent radar and other electronic equipment.

The badge's motto is detegere et destruere, Latin for detect and destroy.

Bird symbolizes planes

Though the new badge refers to "Canadian forces" the unification legislation, expected to be proclaimed Jan. 1, 1968, says the services shall be known as the "Canadian Armed Forces." The female jaeger lays one or two eggs a season.

Commons Day Queen Remains In MPs' Oath

OTTAWA (CP) — An overwhelming vote in the Commons rejected a request of Quebec Liberal Auguste Choquette for permission to introduce a bill removing all mention of the Queen from the parliamentary oath of allegiance.

He said the idea was to end reluctance of "certain Quebec members" to take the oath. New MPs and senators would swear allegiance "to the democratic government of my country and its constitution."

NOT DEBATABLE

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux, noting a motion for introduction of a bill is not debatable, called for a voice vote. There were two or three years followed by a thunder of nays, which led Choquette to complain tradition is any MP has the privilege of introducing a bill but he is "muzzled."

Routine third reading of a government bill establishing a manpower and immigration council turned into a major debate due to a Conservative amendment requiring the new council to file an annual report to Parliament.

The government defeated the idea by a vote of 73-64.

Also in the Commons:

● Health Minister MacEachen said new anti-pollution legislation being studied by his department will cover air pollution but not water pollution.

● MacEachen said the government rejects a proposal that old-age pensions be continued for a year after death to cover funeral costs.

● Labor Minister Nicholson said nothing can be done under existing employment insurance laws for B.C. fishermen affected by closure of herring fishing.

Appeal Ruling Later

The appeal hearing against the fine and jail sentences of two fishermen's union officials closed at 1:25 p.m. in the Victoria Law Courts, with judgment reserved.

United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union president Steve Stevens and secretary-treasurer Homer Stevens were appealing a $25,000 fine against the union and one-year jail terms against each of the officials, for contempt of court in refusing to obey a Supreme Court injunction during the trawlers' dispute in Prince Rupert last summer.

Defence counsel Harry Rankin of Vancouver told the court the fine was "excessive" and said it would work a hardship on a small, independent national union composed of only 7,000 members.

Mr. Rankin said the jail terms were unwarranted. "As first offenders, they were at least entitled to probation on some term of bond."

Union business agent Jack Nichol won his appeal against a similar jail term last week, but both Stevens and Stevens lost their appeals against conviction.

Monday's hearing was before Chief Justice H. W. Davies and two other justices of the B.C. Appeal Court.

Echoes of That Word

Peterson's Men Rapped

VANCOUVER (CP) — A member of a high school English revision committee said Monday the committee was not derelict in its duty by not drawing the attention of Education Minister Peterson to a four-letter word in a recommended English text.

English professor David Mac-cree of the University of British Columbia issued the statement in reply to a charge by the education minister.

Prof. Macaree termed the charge unfair.

"A representative of your department attended all meetings of the committee, took part in its deliberations, and was assumed to have carried out the normal duties of a member, including the responsibility of reading the texts considered for adoption," Prof. Macaree said in a letter to Mr. Peterson.

"Under these circumstances, it would seem the neglect of duty, if any, must lie at the door of your department."

The committee quit in a body after Mr. Peterson ordered the controversial word stricken from Defender of the Faith, a short story in a high school text.

Many School Boards Flunk Pay Deadline

VANCOUVER (CP) — Only 28 of the 83 school districts in British Columbia have completed salary agreements with teachers for 1968, just hours before the deadline for conciliation.

Settlements have averaged about 6.5 per cent.

Those still unsettled by midnight tonight must go to compulsory arbitration, with settlement compulsory by Dec. 31.

Ron Gray, public relations officer for the B.C. School Trustees Association, said Monday it appears about 50 districts will go into arbitration procedures.

In more ways than one Canada Trust can get your money working a lot harder for you. And while it's growing faster, you'll be enjoying many "fringe benefits" that go with being a Canada Trust customer.

The first part of our better offer has to do with $3,000 brought to us by a new customer recently. You may have considerably more or less money on hand. No matter how large or small the amount, we accept your money "in trust". Canada Trust considers every customer's financial requirements individually.

We helped this man choose the various ways he could put his money to work most effectively for himself and his family.

First he invested $1,500

The average annual increase in value of each equity unit of our Canada Trust Investment Fund since its inception eight years ago has been 9%. If you'd invested in the fund then, and reinvested your dividends, you would virtually have doubled your money by now.

The purpose of this investment fund is to give you a diversified portfolio of Canadian and American stocks, and long-term protection from the deteriorating purchasing power of the dollar. It's like having your money professionally managed by your own personal investment counselor. And what's more, you pay no commission to salesmen. Every dollar you invest goes directly to work for you.

So we suggested placing half that $3,000 in the Canada Trust Investment Fund for growth.

"I've got $3,000 sitting in my savings account. Can Canada Trust make me a better offer?"

And something for the kids

The next $500 of this customer's money went into high-interest Trust Certificates for his children's education. We call it a "starter" savings programme for the expense he's going to face in a few years, when his children are ready to enter university. (He was so impressed with this type of planned savings, it was his own suggestion that he buy an additional $100 Trust Certificate every six months.)

And $500 for going places

For a very special holiday he and his family have in mind, we suggested this customer put $500 in a Canada Trust Target Savings Account. (Their target is Hawaii.)

This is a dividend-paying account with interest totalling 5%. Interest is calculated every month, so his "vacation" deposits start earning interest right away.

And $500 for expenses

Even on a plain old chequing account for everyday expenses, Canada Trust made a better offer. 4% interest, at least 1/2% higher interest than most other chequing accounts. So the remaining $500 went into a bill-paying account that earns high interest.

A financial service centre

You might compare Canada Trust to a supermarket. Because, just as food helps you grow physically, Canada Trust helps you grow financially by assisting you in your financial life.

Which brings us to the second part of our better offer. What we refer to as "fringe benefits". Canada Trust provides financial services geared to the busy businessman, and woman. Like taking care of your investment portfolio, collecting interest and dividends, keeping records and helping with tax statements. And that's only a starter.

We have a department that specializes in the buying, renting and selling of every kind of real estate. Summer cottage, mansion, commercial or industrial, you name it. And another department that manages property for you.

And, in a more personal vein, there's our Estate Analysis and Executor-Trustee Service. This is to safeguard your estate, give your beneficiaries the best possible protection, and avoid unnecessary taxes. We also have Safe Deposit Boxes at Canada Trust, to protect your securities, documents and other valuables.

When you need money

Canada Trust is one of Canada's largest conventional mortgage companies. We can give you a mortgage loan for up to 87 1/2% of our valuation of your home, at very low cost to you. And we also make low-cost collateral loans.

You save tax money

The money you invest in a Canada Trust Retirement Plan is tax deductible now, and means higher retirement income for you later. (Don't overlook the significant savings you can make on your income tax this year.)

Meet the experts. Anytime

An intensive staff training programme sees to it that there is always a qualified officer to advise you on financial matters at Canada Trust. Just ask to see the manager of your nearest Canada Trust office. (We stay open longer for your convenience.)

Or write to the address below. We'll send you some interesting information by return mail.

Leisurely Thieves Steal Gems, Cash

LONDON (AP) — A gang of cool and expert burglars using an ultra-modern cutter broke into the London strong room of a giant chain store co-operative during the weekend and got away with a fortune in gems and cash.

Detectives who rushed to the London Co-operative Society's headquarters Monday first estimated the haul at $3,000,000.

But Scotland Yard said later it will take some time to question all the owners of 600 private deposit boxes the raiders ransacked. Then an accurate total can be given.

"It looks as if a considerable amount of money has been taken," a Scotland Yard spokesman said.

Police said the burglars moved in after co-op workers

Surveyor Laid Up

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — long lunar day approached its midpoint.

The sun was reported about 40 degrees above the horizon Monday morning and temperatures were nearing the 200-degree mark on the surface of the moon. The long lunar noon will be on Thursday.

Surveyor 6, which landed on the moon's Central Bay Thursday, was reported in "excellent condition" despite the rising temperatures brought on by intense sunlight as the two-week left their offices in the Stratford district Saturday morning, and began the long job of cutting a hole through the two-foot-thick strongroom door with a thermal lance—the latest in safe-breaking equipment.

The metal-cutter is capable of white hot heat of 572 degrees Fahrenheit—enough to melt concrete blocks and most metals.

But the flame cuts slowly and police believed the gang worked right through the weekend until early Monday before gaining entry to the strong room.

FEW CLUES

As the burglars searched for what they wanted, they discarded gold sovereigns, watches, documents and pieces of jewelry on the floor.

They obviously were experts. Scotland Yard immediately checked the whereabouts of men who could operate the tricky thermal lance.

Detectives crawling over rooftops for clues said: "They left very few marks. This was the work of real professionals."

Denis is accused of unlawfully and wilfully attempting to dissuade U.S. government counsel Pierre Lamontagne from opposing bail for Canadian narcotics smuggler Lucien Rivard during extradition hearings.

Most of the first day was spent trying to pick a jury before Judge Bruce Macdonald of Windsor, brought here to hear the case in Carleton County Court.

Twenty-three men and one woman were examined in an unusual selection procedure before a jury of 12 men was sworn in.

Four prospective jurors—three men and a woman—were excused because, as French-speaking, they were unable to understand enough English to follow the court proceedings in the language.

Among others excused were a lawyer, a parole officer and a policeman, RCMP Corporal Donald Barnes. The RCMP was the investigating police force in the Denis case.

After a one-hour private conference among Judge Macdonald, Denis, defence and crown lawyers, Denis pleaded not guilty in firm, clear tones when formally arraigned on the obstructing-justice charge.

The 34-year-old former executive assistant to the federal immigration minister is being tried in the same courtroom where 20 months ago his trial on a related charge was stopped by Judge Frank Costello of Kitchener, who declared a mistrial.

Denis, a lawyer, listened without emotion to the reading of the indictment. Dressed in a dark suit and white shirt, he stood in the prisoner's box flanked by a scarlet-clad RCMP constable.

Rivard, 52, who escaped over the wall of Montreal's Bordeaux jail while waiting extradition but was recaptured some weeks later, now is serving a 20-year prison term in Atlanta, Ga.

Judge Macdonald recalled that Denis' previous trial—on a charge of corruptly offering Mr. Lamontagne money not to oppose bail for Rivard—lasted nearly seven weeks before it ended in a mistrial "for technical reasons."

He said he doesn't expect anything of that sort this time although the hearings would take "some little time."

Two Men Confess Sidney Store Raid

Two men pleaded guilty in Sidney magistrate's court Monday to charges of breaking and entering with intent and were remanded until Nov. 23 for a probation report.

Michael Eckert, 2453 Mount Baker, and Kenneth Fielding, 8275 East Saanich Road, were arrested in connection with a break-in early Nov. 7 of Sidney Super Foods, 2631 Beacon.

Cookie 'Trips' Blamed On LSD

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — University of California authorities are investigating the possibility co-eds were served LSD-spiked cookies at a sociology class.

Two of the girls, who apparently were slipped the chemical without their knowledge, underwent agonizing "bad trips" and had to be taken to hospital.

HOME SEMINAR

The incident occurred last week during a regularly scheduled seminar which was to have been held in a campus classroom, but instead was held off-campus at the home of an unidentified class member.

Both co-eds became so emotionally unglued they were taken to Cowell Memorial Hospital on the Berkeley campus. One was released after a short stay, the other after a few days.

ERRATIC CHANGE

Who made the cookies and passed them out to the unsuspecting students was not immediately learned.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chilton, assistant dean of students, confirmed the incident occurred at the seminar, but said it was not known what substance in the cookies induced the erratic personality change.

A doctor at Cowell said the symptoms were those of LSD.

Premier Blasts Ottawa 'Spendthrifts'

By IAN STREET, Legislative Reporter

The Liberal government in Ottawa was pictured by Premier Bennett Monday as a spendthrift "leading the people down the garden path."

He delved into the "the Good Book," and the history books to illustrate his contention that all financial ills can be laid at the door of the old-line parties in general and the Pearson administration in particular.

"The Good Book shows that, if you are given 10 talents and if you don't use them properly and hide them in the ground, you are condemned," said the premier.

"That is why they are in trouble in Ottawa, leading the people down the garden path and spend, spend, spend and deficit financing. Then we get into a period where we have some unemployment in the country, they put more taxes on people. Nothing could be more stupid."

B.C.'s Good Example

The premier said the people of B.C. should look back over their history for a good example of fiscal mismanagement set right.

"The real values of life are not material but are moral and spiritual," he said. "But we must use the assets and talents that God gave us properly, or be condemned, as the Ottawa government is condemned today."

In 1871, when B.C. joined Confederation, the province was in a "financial jam," owing $1,500,000 which it couldn't pay and having no ready cash even to pay its civil servants.

Not Right Medicine

He said he was not going to elaborate at this time. Next week a reporter asked. Not then, either, the premier said.

Then, due to mismanagement of provincial finances by previous Tory and Liberal administrations, B.C. was in "terrible financial shape" when Social Credit came to power in 1952. Fixed assets were $128,000,000 but the net debt was $222,000,000 "and sinking funds were short."

In the past 15 years, he said, this government had brought B.C. from have-not to No. 1 province in Canada and "now Ottawa wants everything we have."

Dispute with Chains

Butchers Meet Here For Strategy Talks

Butchers' union representatives on the Lower Mainland and south Vancouver Island will meet here this week to discuss strategy for their dispute with six store chains in the Vancouver and Victoria areas.

George Johnston of Vancouver, a representative of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, said Monday he would be in Victoria Wednesday to meet with meat cutters.

RETURNING OFFICER
Meanwhile, the Industrial Relations Board confirmed the appointment of Roy Macdonald of Vancouver as returning officer for a strike vote, earlier announced by the union.

The meatcutters are seeking $1 an hour raise in pay; a 36-hour, four-day work week; a dental program; improved pension and vacation plans; a night premium rate improvement; the right to challenge the work load, and changes in job classifications.

The six supermarket chains threatened Thursday they would all close their stores if any one of the companies was struck by the union.

U.S. Sign on Neon Firm

Control of Neon Products of Canada Ltd. has either passed into U.S. hands or is in the process of doing so. A block of 170,000 of the Vancouver company shares was transferred as a special size transaction on the Toronto Stock Exchange Monday.

This represents about 15 per cent of the 1,104,723 outstanding shares.

Art Christopher, chairman of the company, said he and a group of his friends sold the stock to unnamed New York interests.

The sale was made at $10.75, or about $1 higher than the current market price of the Vancouver sign company's shares on the open market.

TWO MONTHS
The New York syndicate is reported to have been buying Neon shares on the Vancouver and Toronto stock exchanges for the past two months. In that period the price has risen from $8.50 a share.

Mr. Christopher, formerly of Victoria, says the new owners will keep him on as chairman for the time being and the company's policy would not be changed.

R. H. B. Ker of Victoria is another Neon director. The firm has branch plants in Victoria and Nanaimo.

NEW DEVELOPMENT

In the past few weeks the earnings potential of Neon has been greatly enhanced by its acquisition of manufacturing rights on a new type of advertising sign. Known as Llobet living panel signs, they are capable of delivering a fast-changing sequence of pictures from one sign.

The first sign in Canada was erected recently by Neon in Kingsway in Vancouver. The company also has manufacturing rights for the rest of Canada and 19 of the United States.

"We expect it is the new type sign which has made Neon so attractive to the new owners," said an investment dealer close to the company.

EAST GAS FIRST

The east has apparently beaten the west in the discovery of Canada's first offshore natural gas well. According to Premier G. I. Smith, Nova Scotia's minister of mines, Mobil Oil of Canada has brought in a natural gas well at Sable Island, 100 miles off the Nova Scotia coast.

The premier's announcement appeared to confirm rumors in existence for the past few weeks that an important strike had been made, although this was subsequently disclaimed by Mobil. The natural gas was discovered at 14,300 feet, but Mobil says it was not of commercial significance. There had been indications of gas and the well was still drilling according to Mobil.

As to the commercial viability of the discovery, much will depend on the size of the field, for the transportation of gas to the mainland would be an expensive item and would need to be large to make it worthwhile.

Oilweek of Calgary said that despite Mobil's apparent disinterest, the company has run a quantity of high-pressure drilling equipment from Calgary to Sable Island in the past few days.

ALREADY REGISTERED

The feeling that something important is afoot is also borne out by the feverish excitement engendered in the oil industry in the Atlantic continental shelf which also extends down the New England coast.

More than 129,000,000 acres of reservations in the Canadian portion have already been registered at Ottawa.

While the industry had been hoping for oil it is pointed out extensive gas would also be welcome, for it is at present non-existent in the Maritimes and in demand in the New England states.

QUICK-RISING STOCK

Silverknife Mines, an unlisted Vancouver mining company, rose Monday to $2.15 bid — an advance of $1 from Friday's close — in speculative action. The company has a silver property in the North West territories from which some reports are expected.

Rodstrom Yellowknife, a Victoria company, has 400,000 shares of Silverknife, and Charles Craig of Victoria is an official of both companies. Rodstrom, listed on the Vancouver Stock Exchange, rose .10 to .35 in sympathetic action.

TORACCO IN DEMAND

The 1967 Ontario tobacco crop is expected to sell at record prices, following a start to sales at Bramford at which prices were higher than at the corresponding period of 1966.

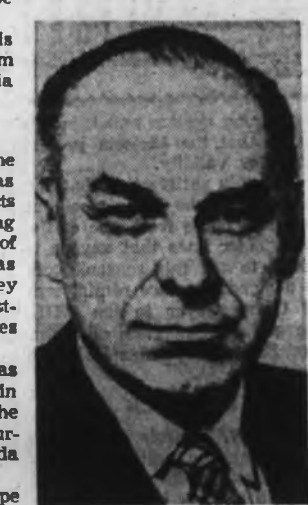

Bids of up to 75 cents a pound with an average of 71 cents were received. The 1967 crop is estimated at 210,600,000 pounds. Owing to the embargo on Rhodesian tobacco, Canadian tobacco enjoyed a record year in 1966.

McKeta Plans To Return Next Season

Will Victoria Tyees be back in 1968? That was the big question today after a determined band of Tyees came from behind Saturday at Royal Athletic Park to defeat Sacramento Buccaneers, 10-7, and close their home season on a winning note.

The win left Victoria with a 4-6 season record to date. With two away games still to be played, it meant that the Tyees could salvage a .500 record by winning two.

FULL-TIME TEAM
Don McKeta's plans at this stage still call for the Tyees to return and be a full-time Victoria team next year. But with the league bursting with enthusiasm and plans for next year — including expansion and a tie-in with the National and American Football leagues — sound financing is needed.

The impression left by McKeta since he took over full control late in the season is that if he returns, he'll field a competent, well-coached team and last the route.

RECOVERED FUMBLE
On Saturday, the Tyees didn't get on the scoreboard until the third quarter when Cliff Smith kicked a field goal from the 22. And it was Kurt Gagner's recovery of a fumble on the Bucs' 11-yard line in the fourth quarter that set up Victoria's touchdown and the win. Steve Jones, who had a good night rushing, went wide to the right. A defender pulled him down by Victoria O'Keefes survived a shaky finish at Macdonald Park Saturday to get two points needed to get back into the argument for the Pacific Coast Soccer League lead.

Beaten in two of their first three matches in what is shaping up as a six-club scramble, O'Keefes balanced their record with a 2-1 victory over Vancouver Firefighters.

With Westminster Labatts coming through with a 2-1 win over previously-unbeaten Columbus in Vancouver on Sunday, chances of a repeat suddenly look much better for the defending champions.

CLOSE TO LEADERS
O'Keefes are fifth with their four points, but they are only one point behind Columbus and two points away from the three clubs sharing the lead with a game in hand on two.

Sharing the lead with Westminster and University of British Columbia is Burnaby Villa, at 3-2 winner over trailing North Shore in a Saturday match in Vancouver. Both UBC and Villa have played five times, once more than any of the other seven clubs.

Sweep for West In Schenley Race

MONTREAL (UPI) — Players from the Western Football Conference today dominated the Canadian Schenley football honors awarded annually to the most outstanding player, the Canadian player of the year and lineman of the year.

Calgary Stampeders' quarterback Peter Liske was named player of the year while teammate Terry Evanshen was awarded the Canadian player of the year trophy. Ed McQuarters, defensive tackle with Saskatchewan Roughriders, was named the lineman of the year.

Liske, in his second year with the Stampeders, beat out Hamilton Tiger-Cat Tommy Joe Cooley for finalist honors. Liske joined the roster of the Stampeders from the Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Conference. He had previously held quarterback and defensive end positions with New York Jets.

Evanshen, top scorer in the Western Conference, turned the tables this year on Ottawa Roughriders super-star Russ Jackson. In last year's Schenley awards Evanshen and Jackson were the two top nominees with Jackson capturing the award.

Ed McQuarters, playing his first full season with Saskatchewan, eliminated 1962 lineman of the year John Barrow of Hamilton Tiger-Cats in final voting.

The presentations of the awards are to be held in Ottawa during Grey Cup festivities.

In addition to the awards trophy, Liske will receive $2,000 in Canada Savings Bonds. Evanshen and McQuarters will each receive $1,500.

This year's awards are the 15th annual presentation of the coveted trophies. Voting begins in early October when selected nominators in Canada's nine football cities are asked to choose a player in each of the three categories from their home team.

On the second ballot, six of the 37 players on the first ballot are selected for each category — three from the east and three from the west. In final voting, three of the six semi-finalists are picked.

Riders Gain East Final As Russ Jackson Shines

OTTAWA — Toronto Argonauts had no answer for Russ Jackson Sunday and were eliminated from the Grey Cup playoffs by losing, 38-22, to Ottawa Rough Riders in the Canadian Football League's Eastern Conference semifinal.

Completely outplayed in the first 25 minutes and trailing by 20-0, Argonauts came surging in the second and third quarters under quarterback Tom Wilkinson to get to 22-7 before the Riders put on a rally of their own under the brilliant passing of Jackson to again pull away.

PIN-POINT PASSING
Playing perhaps his best game of the season, Jackson's pinpoint signal-calling and pin-point passing were too much for the hard-trying Argonauts.

Jackson completed 19 of 30 passes for 372 yards and four touchdowns, time and again finding his receivers with beautifully-thrown passes. Ron Stewart and Margene Adkins each caught two scoring passes and Don Sutherland got the other Rider points with four conversions, three field goals and a single on a wide field goal attempt.

Bill Symons, Mel Profit and Jim Dillard scored the Toronto touchdowns. Dave Mann converted each time and got a fourth point on a 73-yard punt.

WILKINSON SPARKLES
With Wally Gabler unable to move the Argos on offense, the Ottawa club moved into a 20-0 lead in the first half. Stewart caught his two touchdowns and Sutherland got his first two conversions and first two field goals.

Argos then sent in Tom Wilkinson, who hadn't been on the active roster since a September win over Calgary, to do their quarterbacking and it appeared for a time as if they might make it all the way back. Wilkinson, who completed 10 of his first 11 passes and 15 of 23 in the game for 266 yards, got the score to 20-8 by the end of the half and then to 27-22 in the third quarter before Jackson and the Riders took control again.

After Mann had kicked his single, Wilkinson hit Symons perfectly under the goal posts on the last play of the first half to get the comeback started.

KEPT RALLY GOING
Dick Thornton kept the Toronto rally going by blocking a Rider punt after the first series of the third quarter and getting the ball within 13 yards. Dillard plunged for six yards, then Wilkinson had his hurried throw grabbed in the end zone by Profit. Mann converted again and it was 20-15.

Riders came back with Jackson and Adkins, who caught seven passes for 144 yards during the game, showing the way. Adkins ended the march on a 19-yard play with Jackson, Sutherland's convert made it 27-15 but the Argos were back with a third touchdown in two plays. Dillard taking a swing pass on the first play after the kickoff and racing 87 yards down the right sidelines.

Eskimos Stubborn

Roughies Gain Final

REGINA—It was tough, er and much closer than the final score indicated Saturday as the favored Saskatchewan Roughriders moved into the Western Football Conference's best-of-three final against Calgary Stampeders with a 21-5 victory over Edmonton Eskimos.

The final opens in Calgary next Saturday.

Playing on a field covered with a light fall of snow and in temperatures which ranged from freezing point at game time to 25 degrees by the end of the game, the Riders couldn't pull away from the stubborn Edmonton defence although yielding the Eskimos a total offense of only 188 yards.

REED CARRIED LOAD
Riders, with the exception of fullback George Reed, didn't do much better. They got only 60 yards in the air with five completions in 11 throws but with Reed bulging his way for 150 yards on 26 carries, they did get 225, rushing yards.

The turning point, Saskatchewan-coach Eagle Keys said, came late in the third quarter with Riders leading, 11-4. Terry Baker, who had taken over the signal-calling when Frank Cosentino couldn't get the Eskimos started, had brought play from the Edmonton 45-yard line to the Saskatchewan nine-yard line.

RIDERS STIFFEN
It was there that the Riders stiffened. Ron Atchison broke through to throw Baker for an 11-yard loss and Wayne Shaw roared into the Edmonton backfield on the next play to nail Baker for a 16-yard loss, putting the ball 36 yards away. Pete Kempf hit the crossbar with a 42-yard field-goal try and Riders were out of their most serious trouble.

Riders took an 8-0 lead in the first quarter on a single point from a 36-yard field-goal try by Jack Abendschan, a five-yard touchdown run by Ed Buchanan and Abendschan's convert and boosted their margin to 11-0 by halftime on a 22-yard second-quarter field goal by Abendschan.

KEMPF OFF TARGET
Kempf had a chance to kick Eskimos into the lead by the first minute of the fourth quarter but got only five points from four field-goal chances.

He was wide for one point on a 32-yarder, kicked a 45-yarder and then missed with his 42-yarder in the third quarter before getting a single point in the early part of the fourth quarter.

Riders finally pulled away late in the quarter, getting to 14-5 when Abendschan kicked a 23-yard field goal at 12:35 after a

Knudson-Balding Eighth

U.S. Team Wins World Golf

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Arnold Palmer, the easy-going golf master from Latrobe, Pa., was off to new conquests today after capturing his first World Cup individual prize in six tries as co-winner of the American team.

Jack Nicklaus, his 27-year-old team-mate, came in second as individual winner plus co-holder of the team trophy by the United States for the sixth time. "I owe my partner a great deal for getting those clubs right," said Palmer. "I came here to help win the team championship," added Nicklaus. "If I couldn't win the individual prize I'm glad Arnold did."

The two U.S. stars, who outstripped a field of 80 golfers from 40 nations, territories and regions fired a combined 567 for the two rounds, 13 strokes below their nearest competitors, south-paw Bob Charles and Walter Godfrey of New Zealand.

Canada's twosome of former Winnipeg George Knudson and Al Balding, both playing out of Toronto, finished eighth in the team event with a total of 583 strokes, 36 strokes off the pace-setting U.S. entry.

Knudson, defending his individual laurels won last year in Tokyo when the tournament was known as the Canada Cup, finished 16th with rounds of 70-77-71-74 for a 292 total.

SCRATCHED EYE

Palmer, who nursed an eye scratched by sand from a trap shot for the last two days, fired a five-under par 67 in the final round for a total of 276.

Nicklaus and Charles tied for second place, five strokes behind Palmer.

Palmer got only $1,000 for the best individual score and shared $2,000 with Nicklaus for the team victory. Nicklaus and Charles split $500 for second place while Tony Cerdia of Argentina won $400 for his 284 and third place, and Ted Maltena of Hawaii, fourth with 285, got $200.

Manchester United Tops, Edge Liverpool 2-1

LONDON (CP)—Manchester United, the reigning champions, took over first place in English soccer's First Division by beating Liverpool 2-1 Saturday.

A great performance was put on by Manchester, playing without suspended Scottish international Denis Law and injured England World Cup star Nobby Stiles. Liverpool had led the division since Oct. 14.

In the Scottish first division, Glasgow Celtic returned to winning form, beating Airdrieonians 2-0 in their first game since losing a brutal World Club championship playoff against Racing of Argentina and Montevideo a week ago.

There also was a change at the top of the English second division where Blackpool, relegated last year, captured the league leadership with a 3-1 victory over Cardiff City.

Both Portsmouth and Queen's Park Rangers, who had occupied the top two positions, suffered defeats, Portsmouth 3-2 away to Millwall and Rangers crashed 3-1 away to Carlisle United.

Criminal History Extended

A 47-year-old man with a criminal history dating back to 1940 was sentenced to concurrent terms of one year in jail on two counts of false pretences when he appeared in central magistrate's court Monday.

Andrew Thomas, no fixed address, pleaded guilty last week to getting women's wear from Dick's Ladies' Ready-to-Wear, 1324 Douglas, with worthless cheques. Thomas told Magistrate William Ostler he had been released from the penitentiary in September and had been "drunk ever since."

Magistrate Ostler: "That's been the story of your life since 1941?"

"Yes, sir."

Concern about the supervision of military wet canteens was expressed by Magistrate Ostler as he sentenced an 18-year-old Eskimo on charges of theft, impaired driving and having no driver's licence.

Gordon, Colin, 18, who is taking a boat-building course at CFB Esquimalt, was given a suspended sentence and placed on a $500 bond for one year on the theft charge.

SECOND BOND
For impaired driving, he was placed on a $250 bond for one year and prohibited from driving for two years. For not having a driver's licence, he was fined $25.

An additional condition was that Colin not enter a wet canteen or any licensed premises during his probation period.

After viewing the pre-sentence report, Magistrate Ostler said:

UNDER INFLUENCE
"I am satisfied you would not have committed any of these offences if you had not been so heavily under the influence of liquor that your usual common sense deserted you."

He said he was concerned about the supervision of a wet canteen where an 18-year-old could drink to excess every weekend.

Colin admitted stealing a car Nov. 5 in the 600-block Admirals and driving it for about a mile into a ditch.

Three motorists were jailed for driving while impaired. Larry Wenzel, 23, of 1028 Summit, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and prohibited from driving for one year except for business purposes. He had one previous conviction.

Derek Clark of Sidney was sentenced to 20 days and suspended from driving for one year for impaired driving.

SAME OFFENCE
He was convicted of the same offence in May.

He was sentenced to an additional 10 days for driving while his licence was suspended.

Edwin Anderson of Wellington was sentenced to three months in jail and banned from driving for six months when he was convicted of his third offence of impaired driving.

Fined $350 each with their licences suspended except for business purposes after their convictions of impaired driving: Ralph Wallin, 1776 Howroyd; James McAllister, 1261 McKenzie; John Poucher, 2953 Craigowan.

Three men were fined a total of $550 when they pleaded guilty to driving while their licences were suspended. Edward Hawes, 3533 Saanich, was fined $250, Frank Cirkelbank, 1120 May, was fined $150, and Daniel Carlos, 626 Rothwell, $150.

Walter James Adams, no fixed address, was fined $50 when he pleaded guilty to obtaining lodgings at the Albany Hotel, 1021 Government, by fraud.

Adams admitted staying at the hotel from Aug. 15 to Sept.

15 and leaving without paying the $34.50 bill.

Fined $35 each for being minors in possession of alcohol: Christopher Perry, CFB Esquimalt; David Worsley, 4368 Torquay.

Robert Cameron, 550 Johnson, was fined $50 for consuming liquor in a public place. He drank wine on the Johnson Street wharf Sept. 18.

Fined for careless driving: Bryan Angus, 1145 Hadfield, $75, licence suspended, $100 bond for three months with the condition he attend the Saanich safety program Nov. 15; Shon Mockridge, 1866 Neil, $40, licence suspended; Catherine Zaalberg, 2150 Cadboro Bay Road, $40.

Gas Station Employee Bound, Robbed of $185

A 19-year-old service station employee was gagged, blindfolded and bound by three men Saturday night and robbed of $185 before being left in Kinsmen Gorge Park.

Gordon Enquist, 3165 Earl Grey, told Saanich detectives he had looked up the Pay-n-Save gas station, 430 Gorge East, at about 1 a.m. Sunday and walked toward his home with $185 in receipts in a paper bag.

At the corner of Earl Grey and Burnside, two men asked him what was in the bag, Mr. Enquist told police. "They grabbed the bag and one of the men said 'It's here,'" Det.-Sgt. Robin Stewart said.

One of the men then signalled a four-door 1959 Chevrolet waiting nearby and Mr. Enquist was hustled into the rear of the car.

"They ordered him to keep his head down," Det.-Sgt. Stewart said. "He was blindfolded, gagged and his hands were tied behind his back."

They drove around for about 20 minutes and counted the money. Mr. Enquist was then dropped in the park.

Mr. Enquist broke free of the rope binding his hands and went to a nearby house and phoned the police.

Det.-Sgt. Stewart said Saanich detectives had the gag, blindfold and the rope used. He said the car detectives were seeking was painted yellowish-green at the bottom and dark green on top.

In other weekend crime, between $75 and $100 in change was stolen from 13 machines at the White Swan Launderette, 1811 Fort.

Retardation

Footprints Lead Doctors Toward Answer

By JOHN MATTERS

Hand and footprints are giving doctors at Royal Jubilee Hospital clues to secrets children can unwittingly hide in the nuclei of their cells.

The ridges and valleys of skin on the hands and feet, along with their folds, tell people like microbiologist Anne Johnston whether anything has gone wrong in the chromosomes and whether the child has inherited an abnormality.

The chromosomes are tiny strings of genetic material.

Poverty War

Democrats Score Victory

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration forces Monday won a major victory in their battle to continue the war on poverty by defeating a Republican move to cut the program by more than $600,000,000.

The amendment was the first of a score expected to be offered to the bill which is before the house for the second consecutive week.

It marked a crucial victory for the bill's managers, the Democrats on the house education and labor committee which drafted the measure.

Democrats won another victory when they defeated by a 164-116 tally a GOP proposal to shift the job corps from the office of economic opportunity to the department of health, education and welfare.

SECOND TRIUMPH
 It marked a crucial victory for the bill's managers, the Democrats on the house education and labor committee which drafted the measure.

Democrats won another victory when they defeated by a 164-116 tally a GOP proposal to shift the job corps from the office of economic opportunity to the department of health, education and welfare.

It was dead for about 20 years, until researchers started confirming the correlations between specific prints and specific diseases.

acquired by every person from his parents, which decide how each of the billions of cells in the body will function.

HAYWIRE CHROMOSOME
 Such disorders as mongolism, some forms of retardation, blood and metabolic disease can be acquired by a child because he has had the misfortune of inheriting a haywire chromosome.

For each of those disorders, there seems to be a specific pattern on the hand or footprint.

If a doctor suspects a heritable ailment in a child, he can have a print taken in Jubilee's laboratory. If the results of the foot and handprints tend to confirm the prognosis, Mrs. Johnston and a technician make a much closer investigation for the source of the trouble.

CELL CULTURE
 They culture white cells from the child's blood and arrest the reproducing cells at a stage when chromosomal aberrations are the most obvious.

They look at each of the 23 pairs of chromosomes under a powerful microscope. Three, instead of two, at a position on a scale occupied by the 21st pair is a definitive indicator of mongolism, for example.

In the meantime, the prints are sent to a research group, which includes a medical geneticist, at the University of B.C.

EARLY TREATMENT
 Many of the serious problems arising from inherited diseases can be eliminated by early treatment with modern drugs. Doctors at Jubilee want to give these children every possible chance for a normal life by such treatment.

The work at Jubilee and the group in Vancouver on hand and footprints is a resurrection of a theory that was postulated, and tested in a limited way, in the 1930s.

It was dead for about 20 years, until researchers started confirming the correlations between specific prints and specific diseases.

Highest U.S. Court Extends Legal Aid

WASHINGTON (LST) — The U.S. Supreme Court broadened the right-to-counsel principle Monday in a new move to assure the poor equal justice with the rich.

In a unanimous decision, the court held a man facing loss of his probation has the same constitutional right to a lawyer as a defendant facing criminal charges.

The ruling was the high court's latest broadening of a criminal defendant's right to an attorney, paid for by the government if he's penniless.

EVERY STAGE

"Appointment of counsel for an indigent is required at every stage of a criminal proceeding where substantial rights of a criminal accused may be affected," the court said.

Justice Thurgood Marshall wrote the opinion, his first since joining the court in October.

The sixth amendment to the Constitution says that, in all criminal prosecutions the accused shall "have the assistance of counsel for his defence."

STATE TRIALS

Marshall noted in a landmark 1963 ruling the court applied this requirement to state felony trials, holding the state must provide a lawyer for the defendant who can't afford one.

In earlier rulings, the court had held a lawyer was required only when "special circumstances" merited it. The 1963 decision did not enumerate the stages in a criminal proceeding where counsel was required.

But in later, highly controversial rulings, the court applied the requirement to questioning inside a police station house and to lineups following the indictment of a suspect.

The framework for the latest extension was the appeal by two men from Washington state rulings that revoked their probation and imposed deferred sentences.

A lawyer is needed at such proceedings because "certain legal rights may be lost if not exercised at this stage," Marshall said. Under Washington law, he said, these include the right to appeal after a defendant has pleaded guilty and the right to withdraw that pleading.

Both cases now go back to the Washington courts.

Other noteworthy actions at Monday's session consisted mainly of refusals by the court to hear controversial appeals. These included:

- An antitrust attack on the New York Stock Exchange's practice of fixing minimum commission rates to be charged by brokers.

- A New York man's appeal of his conviction for refusing to report for army induction. Federal courts held David Geary waited too long to claim conscientious objector status.

Hindus Arrested During Protest

NEW DELHI (AP) — Fourteen Hindus were arrested as they attempted to stage a march on the Indian Parliament when it opened for the winter session. They were protesting the "state of anarchy" in Kashmir state, claiming Kashmiri officials oppressed the Hindu minority.

Wind Troubles Many*Lalonga Leads Yachts

Dick James' Lalonga II twice led a Royal Victoria Yacht Club fleet across the finish line Sunday afternoon in the second Turkey Head series races. Twenty-four boats sailed the five-mile course which started off Willows Beach and went to Darimont, Jenny Jones, Fiddle Reef, Mary Todd Island and finished off the beach. Winds gusting to 25 miles and hour in Oak Bay proved too strong for most boats.

Because the committee boat left its station to assist a capsized boat, the morning race was discounted. Results of afternoon races on corrected time:

FIRST AFTERNOON RACE

1. Rod McBride, Lemolo; 2. Dick James, Lalonga II; 3. Dick Rendshaw, Masilla; 4. Jean Pierre LeDalle, La Marquis; 5. Charlie Pash, Chamo; 6. Larry Roberts, Holo Dolly; 7. Glen and Ralph Higgins, Sea Smoke; 8. Don McGowan, Haida; 9. Alex Hale, Scout; 10. Brian Hart, Tarr Tarr; 11. Peter Ferguson, Rebel; 12. Robert van den Bessene, Myn-don; 13. Rick Todd, Kiwi; 14. Dr. Peter Clarke, Halcymon; 21. Tony Rose, Robbie Hunter; 22. John Booth, Umpika; 23. Alex Cummings, Coalacanth; 24. Ian Boorman, Byzantium.

Frostbite dinghies in Cadboro Bay Saturday and Esquimalt Harbor Sunday raced in steady winds of 12 miles an hour.

November series winners at Royal Victoria Yacht Club were Sidney Halls in Davidson and Norman Marcus in El Toros, each with three firsts. Ron Mack placed second and Jim, one second and Roger Hay with one second. Doug Beer won two firsts in Fireballs.

In the El Toro fleet, Shirley Jefferson took second place and Peter Brimacombe third. At RCNSA, Jill Spear led the El Toro pack with two firsts and two seconds in the five-race series, followed by Bill Whitby with two firsts and one second, and Whitby with one first and

Damaged Vessel Afloat Thursday

The 8,000-ton freighter Marie Skou, which lost her bow in an early-morning collision Sept. 20, will leave the repair shop at Yarrow's Ltd. sometime Thursday, according to Yarrow's general manager John Wallace. The Marie Skou collided with the 40,000-ton Chitose Maru in fog-shrouded waters at the entrance to Juan de Fuca Strait. There were no injuries.

Shipping agent George Dawson of King Bros. said the Marie Skou would go Thursday to Ogden Point to pick up 500 tons of pulp that she discharged after the collision. Mr. Dawson said the ship "might then go to Crofton" for a load of lumber. Other sailings plans are not known.

The Chitose Maru, which suffered a 40-by-20-foot hole in her No. 1 hold as a result of the collision, was repaired early in October.

No official estimate of damage is available, but unconfirmed reports indicated cost of repairs to both ships could exceed $1,000,000.

Two Retire*97 Years Of History

By NANCY BROWN

Interwoven through two generations, 97 years of seafaring history of two Victoria families came to an end Friday at HMC Dockyard.

Capt. James Moore, 2741 Fifth, quartermaster and winch dayer at 16, and marine engineer Jack Harris, 464 Bole-skin, who went to the North Ward school together before the First World War, retired simultaneously.

Both come from families with long marine traditions.

Mr. Moore's father, Capt. J. J. Moore, who died on his 99th birthday last year, ran away to sea at the age of 13, and served in the navy during three wars.

EARLY TEENS

A boatswain in his early teens, Capt. Moore was first mate to engineer Harris' father, Capt. Charles Harris, when both served aboard the William Jolliffe.

The sons have sailed together for the last 14 years.

The late Capt. Moore was in the naval reserve during the Boer War, served out of Halifax in the First World War, and was active during the Second World War.

UP TO MASTER

In the Canadian Hydrographic Service, he worked his way up to master of the CGS Lilloet, and later took command of the William J. Stewart. He retired in 1945, and carried on in shore jobs until 1957.

His former skipper, Capt. Charles Harris, the oldest master mariner on the West Coast, celebrated his 100th birthday a little more than a month ago.

Born on Cape Breton Island, Capt. Harris arrived in Victoria in 1888, after sailing round the Horn.

SALVAGE TUG

He captained the salvage tug Salvor before turning his hand to the B.C. Coast pilotage.

He has worked for the Pacific Salvage Company, and for Island Tug and Barge. During the war he was a CPO aboard the Prince Robert, Courtenay and Malaspina in the Pacific.

James Moore is one of the oldest skippers in the naval reserve—his seniority dates back to March, 1933.

MASTER'S PAPERS

He received his master's papers in 1932, and served on the Estevan, off and on, from 1928 to 1939.

Capt. Moore also sailed out of Vancouver and Everett, Wash. Throughout the war years he served as an examiner in Prince Rupert and Victoria, and after the war he skippered one of the wooden minesweepers up the west coast of the Island.

With his boyhood friend, Jack Harris, he has served aboard harbor tugs for the defence department.

Both men have sons, but they are landlubbers.

Two women were killed at Duncan in a car crash.

And a ferry employee died while working aboard the Mv. Mayne Queen.

Frank Dixon of 2416 West Seventh, Vancouver, was found dead of natural causes, after being missing while hunting for 24 hours.

He was spotted by helicopter at noon lying dead in bush near a logging trail at Upper Quimsam Lake, a short distance from the old Argonaut Mine.

At Port Alice, an Englishman named Derek Edwin Bryant, 21, was passenger in a small convertible sports car, which flipped off the road.

Appeal Past $500,000

The United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal stretched to within 12.4 per cent of its $600,000 target late Monday when donations amounted to $324,514.

Illuminated scrolls were presented at a noon meeting of the campaign committee to Mrs. Shirley Baker, chairman of the campaign's residential general division; G. E. ### Woman, 23 Dies In Fall

A post mortem on a 23-year-old woman who fell down a flight of stairs disclosed a fractured skull, coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre said Monday night.

Mrs. Donna Jackson, suite 10, 2558 Quadra Street, was pronounced dead on arrival in St. Joseph's Hospital after a fall at 3576 Calumet early Sunday morning.

The coroner said he was awaiting a report from the Vancouver analyst's office before deciding whether an inquest will be held.

In another incident 10 miles north of Gold River Frank Wolfe, 41, Port Alberni, was shot through the neck early Sunday.

He escaped death by a fraction of an inch.

Police said the shot was fired by Wolfe's friend Anton Rous, Port Alberni.

An inquest opened Monday night with the viewing of the bodies of two women who were killed in a two-car accident Saturday afternoon.

Teachers, Board Fail To Close Salary Gap

By BILL STAVDAL

Arbitration is being sought to settle the 1968 working contract of Greater Victoria's 1,200 public school teachers. (See B.C. Story, Page 6)

Breakdown of conciliation proceedings was announced jointly Monday night by spokesmen for the Greater Victoria School Board and the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association.

The last offer of the board was a five per cent raise, said trustee George Curran, chairman of the board's finance committee.

IMMEDIATE MOVE
Ernest Costain, head of the GVTA negotiating committee, said the parties are "about two per cent apart."

"We asked that conciliation proceedings continue until Nov. 20," said Mr. Costain. "However, the board moved to go to arbitration immediately."

'PIGGYBACK DEALS'
"They adopted the stand that there was no point in further negotiations."

Mr. Curran commented:

"The board felt we had offered as much as we could, in view of settlements elsewhere in the province."

There have been 22 settlements so far among B.C.'s 83 school districts, averaging five to seven per cent, said Mr. Curran.

Ten of the agreements are "piggyback" deals, based on settlements in other key districts or averages of settlements yet to be made in several districts.

Greater Victoria School District's 1967 teacher salary budget is almost $9,500,000.

DEADLINE TONIGHT

Midnight tonight is the deadline for completion of a conciliated agreement. Nov. 20 is the deadline for voluntary appointment of arbitrators.

The 1968 contract must be settled in one way or another by the end of the year. Teachers and trustees may continue face-to-face bargaining although arbitration proceedings are underway.

Trustee representation will be present to explain the reasons and needs for this supplementary referendum.

Heart-Warmer Looking for a Heart

A load of lovin' for someone, bonnie two-month-old Kathryn is yearning for parents to adopt her. This happy, healthy little part-Indian lassie is one of 15 youngsters under the age of two years the Family and Children's Service of Spencerhouse in Victoria is seeking to find parents for. Prospective parents and interested citizens will be welcomed to a panel discussion and question period on adoption Monday at 8 p.m. in Spencerhouse, 1951 Cook.—Robin Clarke

Alderman's Candidacy Aims at Service Record

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow will have served more consecutive terms on city council than any other man if he is re-elected Dec. 9.

The senior alderman announced his intention to run for office on Monday. He has served 14 consecutive years on city council.

With 14 years' service, Ald. Edgelow is in a deadlock with ex-alderman Edward Williams for consecutive years on the civic body. Mr. Williams served in the 1930's, 40's and early 50's. There are four aldermen up for re-election this year and all four, Ald. Edgelow, Ald. Lily Wilson, Ald. Robert Balrd and Ald. Ian Stewart, intend to run. Mayor Hugh Stephen has already announced his intention to seek another term in office.

TWO OTHERS
Only other candidates to announce their intention to seek aldermanic office were W. A.

Scott, perennial candidate, and William Thomas, Colonist writer.

Former alderman Clyde Savage is spoken of as a potential candidate, although he has not yet declared his intention. Another former alderman, Michael Griffin, is mentioned as a possible aspirant.

Speculation at City Hall that Mr. Thomas could be described as a "Colonist candidate" was answered Monday by publisher Richard Bower in the following statement:

"I would like to make it quite clear to the mayor, members of the city council and the ratepayers of Victoria generally that Mr. William Thomas is not running as a Colonist candidate for civic office.

$900,000 Down, Balance Five Years

Saanich Offers McRaes $1,200,000 for Estate

By DON GAIN

Saanich council voted Monday night to offer $1,200,000 for the McRae Estate—$900,000 down and the balance of $300,000 payable over five years at 6 per cent interest. The family has until Friday to accept.

Council also voted to seek legislation to enable Saanich to rebate charges to certain areas in connection with the municipality's proposed sewer project. The vote was unanimous.

Coun. William Noel opposed the vote on the McRae Estate. "I will not support it unless it goes to the ratepayers," he said. "I would move abandonment."

HORNS OF DILEMMA
Lawyer Louis Lindholm told council there was no way of telling what costs the municipality would have to pay if the deal were abandoned.

"We're on the horns of a really bad dilemma as to costs," Coun. Harold Todd said. There was no secondor for Mr. Noel's motion.

"HIGHLY DESIRABLE"
"This is a very highly desirable piece of property," said Coun. Ed Lum.

Letters were read to council between Louis Lindholm of Pearlman & Lindholm, representing Saanich, and Robert Price of Price, Stevenson & Company, lawyers for the McRae family.

The proposal outlined by Mr. Lindholm was that Saanich buy the property for $1,200,000 plus costs of arbitration and interest "from the date of taking" to Nov. 30, 1967.

SPECIFIED AMOUNTS
It called for a payment of $900,000 upon transfer of title together with interest from the date of taking at the rate of 6 per cent and the costs of the arbitration. The balance of $300,000 would be paid in specified amounts within five years.

The offer specified that expropriation be abandoned by consent without costs.

Mr. Lindholm explained that this would allow the municipality flexibility in the subsequent use of the property which would not be open to it if the land were expropriated.

NOT FREE
Under expropriation the municipality would not be at liberty to employ the lands for a use not contemplated by the bylaw.

Also in the offer was a clause giving Kate McRae, George McRae, Jack McRae and Mrs. Margaret Mangles "liberty to reside in the residence upon the property for the remainder of their lives if they so desire and to have the enjoyment also of approximately a six-acre parcel surrounding the family residence."

ONE ACRE

Coun. Digby Kier moved that the offer be made, but that one acre instead of six be set aside for the enjoyment of the family, that the interest rate be 6 per cent and that expropriation be abandoned.

Coun. Edith Gunning seconded the motion.

During discussion, Coun. Alan Newberry said he would like to know the impact on the mill rate of paying off the balance starting three years from now. (The offer calls for interest payments on Dec. 1, 1968 and Dec. 1, 1969, with payments of $100,000 plus interest on Dec. 1, 1970, 1971 and 1972.)

UP 1.75 MILLS
Comptroller John Tribe told council there could be an increase of 1.75 mills.

Coun. Gunning said she thought council would be defaulting "not to hand on this property in southern Saanich." She thought the price was high. Council should make sure the property is maintained as an open space and handed down to residents for future enjoyment.

Saanich has previously offered $750,000 and $900,000 for the 130-acre of the estate which includes Cedar Hill golf course. Taxpayers voted almost two years ago in a referendum to buy the estate. It finally went to arbitration and in September the McRae family was awarded a price of $1,200,000.

TURNED DOWN

The $900,000 offer for the property was made after the award but the family turned it down.

The arbitration board awarded interest to the McRae family on the $1,200,000 price. Interest now amounts to about $78,000 and accrues at the rate of $200 a day.

Last Ship Today

Victoria Machinery Depot has built its last ship.

The 3,000-ton M.V. Doris Yorke, a rail car-trailer ferry, will slide down the ways at 12:30 p.m. today and mark the end of the company's 105-year history as the province's first major shipbuilding firm.

President and owner Harold Husband announced Oct. 27 he had sold the shipbuilding equipment and stocks of steel and VMD's Dallas Road yard to Burrard Drydock Company.

LARGE CROWD

A large crowd is expected at the ceremonies to watch a new ship begin its life and an old company die, said Thomas Moffett, VMD marine division works manager.

In a formal invitation sent out by VMD, guests have been asked to be at the launching area before 12:20 p.m.

The ferry will be christened by Mrs. Gregory York, wife of the president of F. M. Yorke and Sons, owners of the vessel, Mr. Moffett said.

TRAILER TRUCKS

Construction of the 320-foot ship began in October, 1966, and cost about $1,000,000, he said.

It will be used to carry Canadian Pacific Railway transportation vehicles from Vancouver to Ladysmith.

Mr. Moffett said the vessel can accommodate about 25 rail cars and 30 trailer-trucks.

"This is the last vessel ever to be launched by Victoria Machinery Depot," he commented. "The last launching."

Youth Outruns Customer After Coin Boxes Rifled

By BOB PETHICK

A jingling youth, described as about 15 and "needing a wash," slowly walked from the White Swan Launderette, 1817 Fort, then ran Monday night when chased by a customer who noticed the coin boxes had been rifled.

It is the second time within two days the launderette has been raided. Sunday morning 13 coin boxes were pried open and between $75 and $100 was taken.

Monday night 11 coin boxes were pilfered but no estimate of the amount taken was made.

AFTER RAID

The machines were only temporarily repaired after Sunday's raid and the money boxes were not securely sealed.

"I knew he was up to something," said Mrs. Anita Dodd, 836 St. Patrick, adding she noticed the youth down behind the machines in the rear row, and each time she looked up the youth was watching her.

While Mrs. Dodd was watching the youth another woman in the launderette remarked to her husband that the establishment had been robbed the previous night.

HE KEPT ON

Mrs. Dodd said the youngster was unperurbed by the remark and kept on with his pilfering. "He was real cool about it."

Relief Topic

Thomas Kines, Canadian director of CARE, will speak on international relief to members of the Douglas Rotary Club at 6 p.m. Monday in the Red Lion Inn.

He even went over and washed his hands before leaving the building," she said.

Mrs. Dodd told another customer of her suspicions and he followed the youth into the street.

RUN STARTED

"When we got outside I asked him if I could talk to him. I asked him if he had taken money from the machines and he said he had, then he started to run. I tried to keep up and did for a while but he was too fast for me," said Pat Krebs, 679 Battery.

Victoria and Saanich police converged on the area but the youth could not be located.

Port Man Faces Perjury Charge

A 41-year-old man charged with committing perjury at the preliminary hearing of a murder charge in 1943 will appear in central magistrate's court today.

Frank Hulbert, also known as Frank Pepler, of Port Alberni was elevated from juvenile court Monday afternoon. He was a juvenile in 1943 and must be treated as one in spite of his present age.

He is charged with committing perjury between July 1 and 8, 1943, in the preliminary hearing of William Mitchell who was charged in the slaying of Molly Justice.

The man is charged that he gave evidence, knowing it to be false, that Mitchell killed Molly Justice.

Mitchell was acquitted of the charge and Molly Justice's killer has never been captured.

On the Classroom Trail

Mayor Gets Challenge

If Mayor Hugh Stephen wants somebody to pace him on a "big walk" on Nov. 25, a challenge has been issued. The 26-mile walk is Project 100, a centennial effort of Victoria students designed to raise $100,000 to purchase mobile classrooms for use in Malaysia, Africa and other parts of the Commonwealth.

The idea is to find a sponsor for each of the walkers. The sponsor pays so much a mile. Target is 25 miles and the money accruing is used to buy classrooms.

The plan was broached at a recent meeting of city council at which the mayor said he will not only walk but sponsor another athlete.

The challenger is Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich. "I understand the mayor is a good walker with plenty of practice. He is out walking and playing golf while I am at a desk worrying about affairs of my municipality but I am willing to take the risk and walk mile for mile with him," the reeve said Monday.

"And I'll contract to entertain His Worship along the way. Talking is my business and I'll provide a brisk conversational obligato to keep the mayor's mind off his aching feet," the reeve added.

Entrants must seek a sponsor who will contribute a specified amount of money to the mobile classroom fund for every mile completed, said Edward Hardy, a member of the march co-ordinating staff.

"We expect at least 10,000 people to turn out for the walk and every entry can have as many sponsors as he likes," Mr. Hardy, a first-year University of Victoria student, said.

He said 60 representatives from most Greater Victoria schools attended a planning meeting Thursday night at the university's Student Union Building.

"At the meeting we decided that 80 per cent of the funds will go to the mobile-classroom project and 20 per cent will go to Oxfam," said Dave de Rosenroll, 19, of 2250 Arbutus, another march co-ordinator.

(Oxfam is the Oxford Committee for Famine Relief.) Students have set up a telephone answering service at the university for anyone wanting information on the walk. The numbers are 477-1808 and 477-1809.

The march will begin at 8 a.m. at the Parliament Buildings and the route will include stops at every municipal hall in the greater Victoria area.

Ann

Landers

Dear Ann Landers: A neighbor of mine (a young father in his early twenties) came home from work last week and his two-and-a-half-year-old son ran out gleefully to meet him.

The father ignored the boy and headed for the refrigerator to get himself a beer. The youngster who adores his dad felt very hurt and grabbed his dad around the leg and bit him. The father howled with pain, grabbed the child, threw him to the kitchen floor and bit him on the thigh. This was six days ago and the father's teeth marks are still clearly visible.

The man's wife believes this was an act of brutality on the part of the father and she told him (and everyone else on the block) that he was a beast. The father insists his method of dealing with the problem is a sure-fire way to break a child of biting. What do you think? — FLABBER GASTED

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 24-year-old girl who recently met a fellow 23. Brian was unusually mature for his age and I was very much attracted to him. We spent four evenings together and then I went ahead and ruined everything. I think.

On our fourth date I was sure I was in love with Brian and that he felt the same way about me. He spoke about marriage. When he asked me to spend the night at his place I said yes. He didn't try to con me. It was something we both wanted and I was confident he would not think less of me for it. We had a beautiful time and Brian promised to call the following day. I don't remember ever having been so happy in my entire life.

That was six days ago and I haven't heard from him. Right now I am sick with fear that I ruined what might have been the most meaningful relationship of my life.

How can I get this guy back? I want him so much I could die. I am not a tramp, Ann, I really care for this man. I need your advice. — THE QUEEN OF FOOLS

Dear Queen: I wish I could come up with some encouraging words but I'd be lying if I told you I thought you had a chance to get the guy back. The magic has vanished. In his book you are just another dame with round heels.

This experience need not be a total disaster if you will learn from it. Resolve never again to kid yourself into believing that falling into bed is a shortcut to the altar.

Granddaughters Attend Bride

A wedding of interest here and in the interior took place recently when Mrs. Mary I. Bell exchanged marriage vows with Arthur H. Buckmaster.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hayes at St. Albans Church. Entering the church on the arm of her grandson, the bride was becomingly gowned in a two-piece suit in crushed grape shade, with hat, earrings, necklace and corsage of pink daisies.

A unique highlight of the wedding was when Karen, and Sian Burton, and Lynne Dodd, great granddaughters of the bride, preceded her to the altar, followed by granddaughter Wendy Harlan, Jr. bridesmaid. The little girls ranging in age from six to 12 were dressed in shades of winter green and white, complemented with headbands of pink daisy chrysanthemums.

Matron of honor, Mrs. L. W. Dodd, granddaughter of the bride was smartly gowned in a street length dress of printed silk in tones of blue and green with matching whimsy, black accessories and a corsage of pink daisies.

Best man was Norman Harlan, son of the bride.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was enjoyed at the Old England Inn. Mr. L. W. Dodd proposed the toast. A dainty wedding cake in white and pink was traditionally cut by the happy couple. Topping the cake was a silver bell in heart frame used 36 years ago on the wedding cake of the bride's daughter, Mrs. Roy Burton. Mr. and Mrs. Burton travelled from Salmo, B.C. to attend the wedding.

A family reception was later held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Harlan. Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Pugh of Saanichton, old family friends, and the groom's nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ross, and daughter Donna, Robin Harlan, bride's grandson, Mrs. W. Robbins, and Mrs. and Mr. (Ted) Robbins, Mrs. Harlan Burton were the only guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Buckmaster will reside in Victoria, where the couple 81 and 82 years young, met at the Silver Threads Club.

Salt Spring Wedding

A wedding of wide interest took place on Salt Spring Island, Saturday, when Iona Aileen Bailey became the bride of Ronald George Sturgis of Langley.

Rev. Harry Lennox, Vancouver, performed the afternoon ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Col. Charles E. Bailey and Mrs. Bailey of North Beach Road. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ellen Rose Sturgis, Vancouver.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of French blue silk lace over peau d'elephant in a matching shade.

Yellow roses and white carnations formed the bride's corsage and topped her whimsical veil.

Mrs. Lawrence Wright, Calgary, was bridesmaid in a straight-line dress with a high neck in peau d'elephant of the same color as the bride's. Her close-fitting hat in toning shades of blue and white was complemented by her corsage of white carnations and tiny white chrysanthemums.

Philip T. Sturgis, Edmonton, was best man for his brother and later proposed the toast to the bride's happiness.

Large yellow and white chrysanthemums decorated the home for the wedding. Only the immediate family were in attendance.

For the honeymoon in the interior of the province, the bride wore a black seal skin coat with white fur hat, white accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

The couple will make their home in Langley.

Women Need Training

OTTAWA (CP)—Many women lose touch with the work force, only to return to it without retraining and take poorly-paid jobs, says Ruth Addison, a top federal employment official.

"I believe women have a place in the labor force and we have an untapped group within the 24 to 45 age group."

Miss Addison, who represents the fairer sex on the three-member public service commission, the federal government's staff hiring and training agency, was addressing the Women's Advertising Club of Ottawa.

She urged her audience to train for administrative positions particularly in the middle levels.

Women are reluctant to take on such jobs, she said, but in the public service there are opportunities for them to do so.

"I believe in the home and family but women are going to be able to make more career choices whether married or single."

She discussed the new recruiting program to bring university-educated married women back to work. The program is based on part-time training geared to children's holidays and school hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond S. Butt, 493 Lampson Street, announce the forthcoming marriage of their younger daughter, Penelope Rae, to Mr. David W. Woodworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Woodworth of Kentville, Nova Scotia. The wedding is to take place on Saturday, December 2, at 7 p.m. in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt. Rev. J. Peace Action League members hold vigil at Remembrance services

—Robin Clarke

Remembrance Service Televised

League Stages Peaceful Vigil

A mother who lost two sons in the Second World War joined the Peace Action League's Remembrance Day vigil in Victoria Saturday.

The vigil was from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and, during the Remembrance Day ceremonies, about 22 young people stood beside armed forces on the lawns of the legislative buildings.

They carried placards which read: "Napalm Kills Children, War Does Not End War, Let's Forget, Get Out of Vietnam."

There were no demonstrations. The vigil was summed up by Mrs. Mary Cox of 1240 Glyn Road, a member of Victoria Citizens for Peace and the Voice of Women.

She felt the group was trying to make common cause with the Remembrance Day mourners. "We are not belittling them," she said. "We are trying to use our energies to promote peace."

The woman, whose sons died in the last war said she didn't want to have any more young men killed.

"WAR ECONOMY"
Jim Moore, an artist of 1750 Albert, said he turned out because he felt obligated to state his feelings.

"It's my only way of asserting myself," he said. "I disagree with the war economy under which we live. I don't believe people should kill each other. To me, it's murder."

Clem Gill, who for 34 years was secretary of the Pro Patria branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, said: "I had no objection to their being there."

"When I saw them, I approached them and said good morning. They weren't any trouble."

CBC THERE

CBC television network carried a transmission of the ceremonies. The destroyer-escort HMCS Qu'Appelle docked in the Inner Harbor to take part in services. A crowd of several thousand people bowed their heads at the cenotaph in prayer. Handkerchiefs were quietly brought out during the Last Post and singing of the hymn O Valiant Hearts.

Mr. Gill recited Laurence Binyon's famous lines, "They shall grow not old as we that are left grow old."

Later he told the crowd that observance of centennial year was made possible by the supreme sacrifice of the 112,000 men and women who died for Canada in two world wars and Korea.

"These gallant souls believed that they had taken up arms to bring into being the promised time when war shall be no more," he said.

"How vain that belief is clearly indicated by events in many parts of the world today."

He continued: "Because of abortive disarmament conferences and, ironically, by providing unemployment for thousands of men and women, we see countries either actively or threateningly engaged in warfare, armed with the most destructive weapons that man has yet devised."

South Africa Talk Topic

Dr. Frederick Mayne, recently returned from South Africa, will speak on The Problem of South Africa at a meeting of the World

Federalists of Canada, Victoria branch, in the Servetus Hall, 106 Superior Street, at 8 p.m. today.

Hydrographers Given Centennial Awards

A nurse and two veterans of the hydrographic service have been awarded silver centennial medals for service to Canada.

They are Ruth Cowper, John Rutley and Capt. J. H. Matheson.

Miss Cowper has been director of nursing at the Veterans' Hospital for 10 years. She was with the Canadian Army during the Second World War and is in her 20th year with the department of veterans' affairs.

Mr. Rutley, who lives at 905 Burdett, has been with the hydrographic service since 1930. He is officer in charge of chart compilation. Capt. Matheson, of 20 Olympia, is senior captain ashore. He has been captain of the Marabell and the William Stewart.

Police Seek Hit-Run Car After Man's Leg Broken

A man suffered a fractured leg in a hit-and-run accident on Gorge Road near Earl Grey Saturday afternoon, and three people were injured in a two-car collision Saturday night at Fort and Blanshard.

Saanich police are seeking a late-model car, possibly a Ford, painted royal blue with a white top, in connection with the hit-and-run at 5:45 p.m. Saturday.

The car received heavy damage to the right front fender and was seen heading east on Gorge.

AT BUS STOP
William Ellison, 3080 Earl Grey, was standing at a bus stop opposite 120 Gorge when the car mounted the curb, struck him and took off. Mr. Ellison is in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital.

A 52-year-old woman is in fair condition with undetermined injuries following Saturday night's crash at Fort and Blanshard.

Emily Parkes, 1126 Rockland, was a passenger in a car driven east on Fort by James Paton, 56, of 1739 Mortimer. Mr. Paton is fairly good in the same hospital with undetermined injuries and his wife Josie, 51, is in good condition with lacerations.

The Paton car was in collision with a taxi driven by George Christie of 1108 Nicholson. After the impact, the Paton car veered off, mounted the curb and smashed into the wall of the Courthouse Restaurant, 801 Fort.

In another weekend accident, Mrs. Christine Barlow, 82, of 297 View Royal Avenue suffered shoulder injuries in a two-car collision Sunday afternoon at Interurban and Marigold.

Saanich police identified the drivers as Ian Fetterley, 1098 Jasmine, and Eileen Neilson, 3072 Admirals.

A pedestrian, 17-year-old James Imlach of 1681 Pear, suffered minor bruising and shock when struck by a car Saturday at Hillside and Shelbourne. The driver was identified as Rory Lee, 2003 Quadra.

New petal-soft loveliness for even the reddest, roughest, driest hands....

thanks to a century old secret... and TRITLE'S

The women of your grandmother's day knew how to keep their hands soft, delicate, chastely fragrant. Theirs were beautiful, beautiful hands because they had a secret in common — they knew that the precise combination of rosewater and glycerine restored delicacy, softness, femininity to their hands even after hardest exposure than yours will ever know. Tritle's have their secret. And Tritle's have successfully compounded an easy-to-use, delightfully fragrant cream and lotion based on that time-tested original glycerine and rosewater combination.

Tritle's original Glycerine and Rosewater — pure white fluffy cream and free-flowing lotion — penetrates the skin quickly without messiness or stickiness. Even "detergent burn" responds to Tritle's. Whatever the condition of your hands now — rough, red, chapped, dry — no matter how busy they have to be, you should try Tritle's. Tritle's soothes and smooths hands to new loveliness, so delightful to see, even more delightful to touch. Insist on Tritle's, the white cream and lotion.

Victoria Union Growth Trailing

By GEORGE INGLIS

Labor union membership increases have been steady in the Victoria area, but not as dynamic as nationally, a labor official said Monday.

Murray Drew, president of Local 1-118 of the International Woodworkers of America, said, "Increases in membership have been steady, in spite of increased automation, but nothing to be excited about."

On the national scene, however, union membership climbed briskly during 1966 to reach an all-time high of 1,521,000 union members, figures released by the federal department of labor showed.

ORGANIZER PLEA

The Victoria Labor Council, with its 22 affiliated union locals in the Greater Victoria area, recently expressed dissatisfaction with membership increases, calling on the Canadian Labor Congress to send a full-time organizer to the area.

The council's concern, however, was directed equally at unions affiliated with the CLC, as with all organized labor. The labor department figures encompassed all organized labor.

The largest single reason for the membership soaring an unprecedented 185,000 in 1966 was the passage of Bill C-170 by the federal government, permitting federal civil servants to engage in bargaining procedures.

RAPID CLIMB

As the result of this bill, the Public Service Alliance, which now numbers more than 120,000 members, was added to the roster of unions, and affiliated with the Canadian Labor Congress.

Membership in the congress has been increasing rapidly during the past five years, as the union membership increased by 500,000, and more than 75 per cent of the total union members were shown to be affiliated with the CLC.

In British Columbia, the Teamsters' International, United Fishermen and Allied Workers and the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada are three of the more prominent unions not affiliated with the CLC. The congress now numbers 1,451,000 members, 78 per cent of them coming from international unions.

UNION GIANT

The United Steelworkers of America, with its big automotive union membership, has been the giant of the single unions, with 130,000 members at the end of 1966. The Canadian Union of Public Employees was second with 106,100 and the Public Service Alliance third with 92,800.

By March, 1967, the alliance, which covers federal civil servants in practically all categories, had climbed into second place and was pushing the steelworkers with well over 120,000 members.

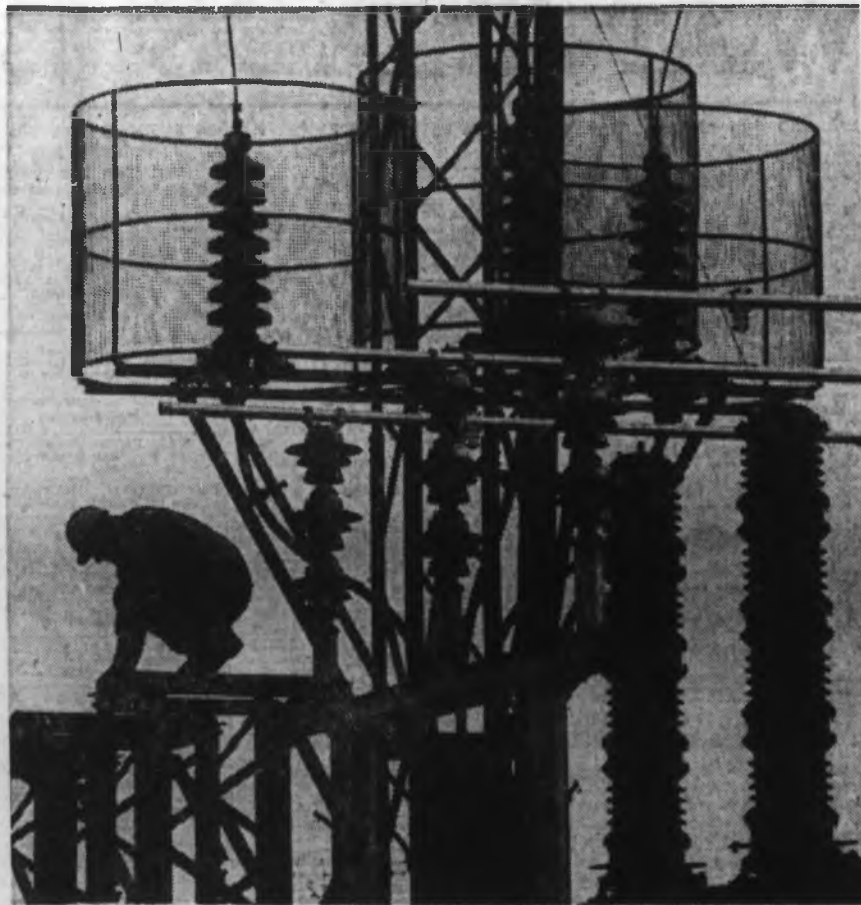

The department figures showed 32.3 per cent of the total non-agricultural paid workers in Canada organized and B.C. rated as the highest province, on a population basis.

NOSTALGIC NOTE

Two-thirds of Canadian union members belong to international unions; 30 per cent to Canadian unions and four per cent are in locals chartered by central congresses, or in independent local organizations.

A nostalgic note contained the figures released by the department on the basis of the annual survey of the economics and research branch, concerned the International Union of Journeymen Horseshoers of the United States and Canada.

It boasted 10 members in Canada in a previous survey, but 1966 showed, "as far as could be determined," the membership was extinct.

Dairy foods go with good living

Milk's the instant refresher for young party-goers. Plain, flavored or in a creamy shake, it's quick to vanish as the fun progresses.

Butter crisp chicken makes a popular partner come food time. To oven fry, melt butter in a large shallow pan, coat chicken pieces in seasoned flour and place skin side down in pan. Bake at 450°F for 35 minutes, turning just once after 20 minutes. Easiest way to fry the crispiest chicken ever!

Note: Our favorite seasoning mix consists of 1½ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. paprika, 1½ tsp. curry powder and 1½ tsp. poultry seasoning per ¼ cup flour.

At dessert time, do-it-yourself sundae makers will delight in spooning a thick chocolate peanut butter sauce over vanilla or coffee ice cream. Simply melt a 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate pieces over hot water, stir in ¼ cup peanut butter, ¼ cup corn syrup and 5 tablespoons cream.

Another swinging dessert starts with a quick cake mix, finishes as an à la mode treat. 6 tablespoons butter ½ cup lightly packed brown sugar ½ cup chopped walnuts

2 (15-ounce) cans fruit cocktail 1 (19-ounce) devil's food cake mix

Melt butter in two 8-inch round cake pans. Mix sugar and nuts and divide between pans; spread with fruit cocktail. Prepare cake mix to package directions; spread evenly in pans. Bake 50 to 60 minutes at 350°F. Cool 10 minutes; turn onto serving plates. Serve warm with vanilla ice cream.

A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merrill advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint to gain a peaches-and-cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion-beautifying cold water, smooth on tropical oil of Olay. This oil is rather scarce and expensive, but your drug store should be able to get you a supply.

Flynn Olympian Sexpot

LONDON (Reuters) — A British judge spoke in court Monday of the "lusty, restless and colorful" life of film star Errol Flynn "who as a sexual athlete may have attained Olympic standards."

Justice Robert Megarry was giving a High Court judgment after three-day hearing to decide where Flynn was domiciled when he died of a heart attack in Vancouver eight years ago.

The answer given by the judge was Jamaica—the ruling asked for by actress Patricia Wynmore, the actor's widow and third wife whom he married in 1950 in an action against co-execution of his estate.

DEBT RECOVERY

Of Flynn, the justice said: "In his three marriages, friendships and quarrels—and in bed with the many women he took there—he lived with zest and irregularity."

The domicile issue has an important bearing on the recovery of debts from the Flynn estate in England, disputed in the action.

The other executor, New York lawyer Justin Merton Golembok, contended domicile was either in California or New York. The judge gave him leave to appeal.

The actor who died in 1959 at the age of 50 was born in Tasmania. After becoming an American citizen in 1941 he acquired a Hollywood, Calif., domicile of choice because "in Hollywood he had his generous pool

Juliet of the Spirits

Fellini Looks for Sunshine

By PATRICK O'NEILL

Federico Fellini's Juliet of the Spirits is showing today and Wednesday at the Odeon Theatre in Victoria.

The Italian film, with English subtitles, is filling in during a delay in bringing the gangster-ama Bonnie and Clyde to Victoria.

Fans of Fellini films won't shed tears over the delay, which gives many a chance to take another look, some a first look, at Juliet of the Spirits.

The film flits back and forth between dancing superficiality of the upper class, and the eerie horror that lies in the shadows of the past.

When the false smiles, sex and games that cover the emptiness of Fellini's characters are stripped away, there is a surge of spirits, memories and nightmares.

Fellini is filming nothingness. It is the nothingness that wraps itself in routine, music, parties, costumes, forced laughter and infidelity.

Coming to terms with that void, and filling it with something real, is the problem of the central character of the film.

Fellini's film technique, his caricatures, his satire, are all entwined in a magnificent picture.

If there is a problem, it is his artful need to overcomplicate every truth he tries to tell us, so that we know the answer while he is still taking off wrap after wrap.

It takes him two hours to say that life makes one decide to throw off guilt, and walk out into the sunshine.

Trio Indicted by Jury On Stock Plot Charge

TORONTO (CP) — While stock promoter Myer Rush, critically injured in a bomb blast, battled for his life, an Ontario Supreme Court grand jury Monday returned a true bill against him and two other men accused of a $100,000,000 stock conspiracy.

The indictment charges Rush with possessing $5,661 in cheques, knowing they had been obtained by fraud.

Toronto lawyer Joseph Williams, 56, and Robert Colucci, 49, are also charged on counts of conspiring to defraud the public of $100,000,000 in shares of Darien Exploration Co. SA, and British Overseas Mutual Fund which lacked the attributes ascribed to them by the accused.

Earlier, doctors told police little credence could be given to

Rush

Rush's attempts to identify the persons responsible for a bomb blast in his Sutton Place apartment last Friday.

The 44-year-old businessman remains in critical condition and is conscious only intermittently. He earlier had signified recognition of several persons by nodding and blinking his eyes when police showed him photographs.

A drawing board and marking pencil have been set up beside Rush's bed in the Toronto General Hospital in hopes he will find enough strength to scrawl the name of the person or persons who tried to kill him.

Police believe a woman supplied information and possibly his hotel key to assassins.

The bomb blast occurred several hours before Rush was to appear on the stock fraud charge.

UN Council Confrontation

Israel, Jordan Talk Tough

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Israel and Jordan confronted each other in the UN Security Council Monday and both stuck to their tough no-compromise positions on the Middle East question.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban returned repeatedly to his theme of direct negotiations with the Arabs and made it clear Israel would not give up gains from the June war until its objectives were achieved.

DIRECT TALKS

He said what Israel seeks "is not meaningless formula" but rather "the conclusion of peace treaties by direct negotiations between Israel and the Arab states." This was "not only possible but inevitable."

Despite recent rather moderate statements by Jordan's King Hussein, his foreign minister, Abdul Monem Rifa'i, Monday pursued the earlier Arab demands for Israeli withdrawal from captured Arab territory as a prerequisite to peace.

MANY EYES

In the eyes of many UN observers, the two speeches underlined the apparent futility of the continuing Security Council meeting which has before it two opposing resolutions, neither of which seems likely to get wide approval. The council debate will continue Wednesday.

Both resolutions, one proposed by the United States and the other by India, Mali and Nigeria, include the provision of a UN envoy to go to the Middle East.

CANADIAN VIEW

The Canadian view, in the weeks of intensive negotiations leading up to the council meeting, was that there would be no point in assigning an envoy to the Middle East unless he enjoyed the prestige of unanimous council backing.

Nevertheless, the council meeting finally was requested by Egypt and the two resolutions were presented in the absence of success in seeking to merge the ideas into one resolution.

REMARKS ECHO

Eban's statement echoed remarks by Prime Minister Levi Eshkol who told the Israeli parliament Monday that "without direct negotiations and in the absence of peace treaties, no way out of the Middle East crisis is visible."

On the other hand, the Jordanian spokesman said that if the UN fails to bring about agreement "we will have to return to our people" and advise them to take the necessary action "to liquidate this Israeli aggression."

ARABS REFUSE

Israel agrees to a UN representative on the grounds he could help bring the parties together in direct negotiations but "only if his directives or frame of reference do not prejudice our policies or our negotiating position," Eban told the council.

The Arabs have refused direct negotiations, in that they would imply recognition of Israel as a state, and prefer to negotiate through the UN or some other third party.

PEACE TREATIES

Eban said Israel would maintain and respect the ceasefire that ended the June fighting "until it is replaced by peace treaties ending the state of war, determining the agreed national frontiers of states, and ensuring a stable and mutually guaranteed security."

He flatly rejected the three-power resolution on the grounds it suggested, he said, that Israel move from the ceasefire lines without a peace treaty.

He said neither resolution gave sufficient weight to the concept of negotiation and agreement although it was believed the Israelis would accept the U.S. formula despite their criticism of it.

However, there was speculation that if the U.S. resolution appeared to be gaining sufficient support for passage, the Soviet Union would veto it.

Britain Cements Aden Pullout Date

LONDON (AP) — Britain has resolved to complete its pullout from turbulent South Arabia Nov. 22, winding up 128 years of occupation in the prized Red Sea land.

Government sources, reporting this Monday night, said Prime Minister Wilson's cabinet intends to assign Lord Shackleton to negotiate an immediate power transfer with leaders of the National Liberation Front.

Shackleton, son of the polar explorer, has been acting for four months as a special British envoy in the South Arabia crisis. He will meet NLF delegates in Geneva, Switzerland, within the next few days.

The negotiators then will hustle to complete two agreements: ● A short, simple accord under which Britain, as sovereign power, will assign all rights, titles, authority and other relevant powers to the NLF leaders as the successor regime. This will need to be completed before Nov. 22.

● A longer, more complex treaty of cession under which all the paraphernalia of government will be transferred retroactively from the old to the new rulers.

The surrender of British power in the colony of Aden and its sun-drenched hinterland marks just about the final phase in Britain's imperial history.

It also represents one of the last painful spasms of Britain's century-old relationship with the people and rulers of the Arab world.

The embryo South Arabian state is made up of Aden colony and 17 sheldhoms and sultanates. The British-protected territories were welded together eight years ago in a fragile federation which never won popular endorsement. Violence and killing by power-hungry nationalist groups have stalked the country ever since.

Aden itself covers 75 square miles, has the best natural harbor in South Arabia and lies 100 miles from the mouth of the Red Sea. The South Arabian hinterland territories occupy 112,000 square miles in the southwest corner of the Arabian land mass. They are bounded by the Sultanate of Muscat and Oman in the east, by Saudi Arabia and Yemen in the north and west and by the Gulf of Aden and the Indian Ocean in the south.

Its situation gives the federation a strategic value that already has thrust the country and its people into the frontline of big-power politics.

Naval forces based on Aden and hostile guns emplaced on Perim Island in the Bab el Mandeb Strait together could seal off the Red Sea—which leads through Suez to the Mediterranean.

Children love to help when Johnny Dale's at work

Johnny Dale is a B.C. Telephone Company installer, one of 700 people who connect customer telephones to the company's $475 million communications network.

Johnny Dale loves children, even when they're reaching for the pliers he carries on his hip as he goes about his work. He has great patience with their curiosity.

He also has an understanding approach to the desire of the very young to help out. And he lets them—in the little ways which make them feel important and leave them unaware that they are being removed from under foot so he can pursue his task unimpeded.

Johnny Dale is a telephone man, one of the 700 installation and repair men among the more than 7,200 people employed by the B.C. Telephone Company. He is typical of the carefully selected and trained individuals who meet company customers, and often their children, face to face in their homes and businesses.

Children Like Johnny

Children seem to like Johnny as much as he likes them. They follow him around when he comes to their house to put in a telephone. They examine his service truck.

They watch him as he buckles on his belt and climbing spikes to scale a pole and make a line connection. And they press in closely to witness the activity as he hooks up the telephone set inside.

"When their curiosity gets too intense," says Johnny, "I give them something to do. I ask them to take the telephone directory to their mother or to carry an empty carton to the waste basket. They're happy helping the telephone man and when they return they generally stand back quietly and wait for another job."

This is just one of the tricks of the trade for Johnny Dale and the other B.C. Telephone installation and repair men.

Some come naturally, like Johnny's love for children. Others are acquired or developed—through technical instruction in the company's plant training school; through special courses in customer relations; and through experience, both on and off the job.

Johnny, son of a long-time B.C. Telephone employee, developed an interest in the telephone industry when he was a child. He acquired the skills of his craft through company training programs, in which he has participated regularly since he began his career in 1957.

Experience Teaches Too

He has learned instinctively how to react when a dog nips at his leg while he's being assured the animal won't bite, and he's become adept at leaving housewives at ease in their chores when his arrival has caught them unprepared for visitors.

He's learned a lot about children in his own home in Burnaby, where he and his wife, Rose Marie, are raising three youngsters of their own. And he's learned a lot on the job.

Installers are busy telephone people. The number of telephones in service in the B.C. Telephone system shows a net increase of about 50,000 each year, but this represents only a fraction of the company's installation jobs. Johnny Dale and his fellow telephone installers make more than 200,000 installations each year to connect new customers and reconnect old customers who move to new locations.

In doing so, they encounter thousands of situations in homes and offices in dozens of communities throughout British Columbia. Like Johnny Dale, they learn to accept them all as a matter of course.

Telephone people are like that. They have a job to do and they are dedicated to doing it well so that British Columbians may enjoy modern, efficient telephone communication service so vital today.

A FAMILIAR RING

The name Johnny Dale may stir a familiar ring among B.C. lacrosse fans of a generation ago. It should.

The senior Johnny Dale, a telephone man for 35 years, who now is a supervisor in B.C. Telephone's Reproduction and Distribution Service, was an outstanding player with the Province Bluebirds of the senior Inter-City Lacrosse League.

When his son, pictured here, was born in Vancouver 27 years ago, he was named Dennis Patrick Dale. But the name didn't stick.

Family friends nicknamed the youngster Little Johnny and the nickname stuck so well that the senior Dale had his son's legal name changed to Dennis John. He's been Little Johnny Dale ever since.

Garden Notes

Keep Laurel Hardy

By M. V. CHESNUT

LAUREL HEDGE (G.W., Royal Oak)—A laurel hedge is best pruned in March. Use secateurs rather than hedging shears and take off the too-long shoots individually, for ordinary hedge trimming would cut some of the leaves in half; such mutilated foliage turns brown and looks horrible.

RENOVATING BULB BED (R.L.L., Victoria)—A good way to restore the fertility of an old and impoverished bulb bed is to dig in very old, well-rotted farmyard manure at the rate of about one bucketful per square yard. If you can't get your hands on any of this precious stuff, peat moss makes a good substitute, mixed in thoroughly and at the same rate.

The peat will create a very good texture for the roots of your plants, but it doesn't add much to the actual fertility of the bed, so I suggest you add a dressing of some mild and long-lasting fertilizer to provide nutrients. Bone meal is good, or any of the proprietary bulb foods.

SAWDUST MULCH (E.J., Victoria)—A generous surface mulch of sawdust on your rose and flower beds will not "burn" your plants, as your neighbor informed you. Properly used, sawdust makes a perfectly safe and most valuable mulch, as you can see if you visit the Dominion Experimental Farm at Saanichton.

However, raw and unrotted mulches of any kind—not only sawdust—will lower the fertility of the soil temporarily while the mulch materials are rotting down.

Plants may show symptoms of nitrogen deficiency in the pale coloring of the foliage. For this reason, it is customary to put down a good sprinkle of ammonium sulphate, sodium nitrate or the like before spreading the mulch. Any fertilizer with a high nitrogen content will do the trick, and its purpose is simply to maintain the nitrogen supply to the plants until the chemical balance in the soil is restored.

FRECKLED PEAR (P. McF., Duncan)—I can be wrong, but the brown spots on the specimen pear you sent me look to me more like spray damage than disease. Lime sulphur, applied at winter strength during the summer, could cause such spots; so could several other sprays applied too strong or at the wrong time.

Spare the axe and wait to see what happens next year, but just in case it is a fungus infection, better rake up and burn the leaves this fall. If the spots appear again, try a squirt of Captain fungicide.

SWEET POTATO (G.W., Oak Bay)—Pieces of vine snipped from your sweet potato houseplant will root quite readily in a jar of water; after roots are made, they may be potted up to make more plants.

In fact, this is the way sweet potatoes are grown commercially in the south—from cuttings. Seed tubers are planted in a greenhouse or nursery bed, and as the shoots appear, they are cut into lengths and stuck in the ground in the open fields, where they take root and grow away. Our climate is too cool for this tropical plant.

I'm afraid I can't tell you whether the vine tips from your plant are good to eat, but I don't think I would want to take a chance on them. While the true sweet potato is not listed as poisonous in any of its parts, it is related uncomfortably closely to a plant used by South American natives as an arrow poison and for stupefying fish in streams.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Young Chaplin Walks Out

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—The Michael Chaplins have separated. The sundering took place very quietly two months ago when Michael moved into another apartment in London leaving his two children with his former dancer wife. Young Chaplin and his father are good friends these days and they talk on the telephone about once a week. Michael, in his early 30's, has given up his ambition to be an actor. He is studying hard to become a doctor and you'd never know him for the same boy—no beard, hair trim and short. He works part time in a grocery store to support his children.

Meanwhile, back in Spain, sister Geraldine was saying of Carlos Saura, who directed her in Peppermint Frappe, "I'd marry him tomorrow if I could." She can't because he is married though separated in Catholic Spain.

Peter Collinson bought a big Georgian house in Surrey. He will make his next film in it, then move in and furnish it for himself. Richard Harris walked out of Better a Widow, not Nobody Loves an Indian, which he will make for Paramount.

Michael Winner's There Goes What's His Name has been refused a seal in the U.S. I'm baffled. I didn't notice anything particularly sexy, except that Oliver Reed not only has a wife from whom he is separated, but two mistresses, then takes on another. It's an interesting film in the very modern sense. I also enjoyed Collinson's new movie, Up the Junction. It's today in swinging London—tragedy, comedy, sex.

Burt Lancaster disappointed the new Israeli branch of the variety clubs when he cancelled his trip to Tel Aviv at the last minute. Burt has been having some differences of opinion about the script of his Castle Keep. I'm not sure actors are the best judges of their material, to judge by some of the rubbish they accept.

Director Andre de Toth, who lost an eye years ago, was in Israel last week scouting locations for his upcoming film with Michael Caine—near the new frontier with Jordan. After some shooting in his direction, he was advised to remove the black patch he wears over one eye. The enemy thought they were attacking Gen. Dayan.

It's a love story with Barbara Streisand and director Willie Wyler in Funny Girl, after some sour notes at the beginning. It doesn't always kill a movie when the critics murder it. As witness Elizabeth Taylor's Reflections in a Golden Eye. No one liked it except the public.

You can't keep a good man down and I do mean Charlie Feldman. Even though his Casino Royale was a mish-mash of a picture, Charlie goes merrily ahead. He is now preparing the movie version of Don't Drink the Water, the Broadway hit.

JACK SMITH Dips Into Delinquency Review

Youth Has Always Been Wild

"The older generation ... pretty much ruined this world before passing it on to us. They give us this thing, this leaky, red-hot, threatening to blow up; and then they are surprised that we don't accept it ... with pretty, decorous enthusiasm ..."

So writes a college student. It is a familiar complaint, but it doesn't happen to be contemporary. It was written in the 1920's. It is quoted from Wild Kids, by Frank R. Donovan, a review of "juvenile delinquency" from ancient times to the hippie generation. Donovan views with compassion, not reproach. He finds that in western society the young have been exploited as often as accepted. They have almost always rebelled.

Even the Greeks, in that brightest moment of the western morn, found raising children "a life of battle and disquietude." Unwanted infants could be left to die. Noble maids were kept in back rooms under lock and key, but boys had the run of brothels acrawl with slave girls.

"Dreadful, dreadful," cried the poet Eubulus, "Are the practices of the young men of our city." Today, Donovan points out, many blame "wild kids" — too much too easy. But he has found that poverty and delinquency have always lain together.

In Rome, a father had absolute authority over his children; he could maim, sell, kill or throw them away. Seneca deplored the practice of crippling small children to make them better beggars.

In the Middle Ages what we would call "college boys" wandered from city to city with their masters, begging, stealing, boozing and wenching on the way. The first colleges were hardly more than brothels — "places of unbridled license."

The "sit-in" was a standard play against oppressive rules or punishments.

"Students would barricade themselves in the college," Donovan writes, "and hold their citadel by force of arms against the masters."

Today's campus demonstrations are trifles in comparison with the inter-college brawls and town-and-gown riots of those days, the author says.

In 1345 Oxford boys started a riot by hurling pewter mugs at an innkeeper. The action lasted two days, 2,000 rustics joined townsmen against the students and invaded the university to burn books and buildings. Several students and masters were killed or wounded before the home guard stopped the bloodshed. Vagrancy was the medieval juvenile's way of life. It reached high tide with the ill-fated children's crusades of 1212, in which tens of thousands of French and German boys and girls ran away from home to join the holy war. Many died; many were seized and sold into vice and slavery; none ever reached the Holy Land.

Children fell to their lowest state in the England of the industrial revolution. Donovan calls them "the unmythical children of Merry England." Charles Dickens has made us all weep for Oliver Twist and his fellow creatures of the London slums.

But "delinquency" was also "a fact of life" among the scions of the upper classes. Hard drinking and venery were de rigueur for school-boys. But "the major form of misbehaving," says Donovan, "was forceful rebellion against school authority."

"The ... student of that era was a far more aggressive rebel than any that we know today, and the histories of the schools are records of a long-drawn conflict between boys and masters."

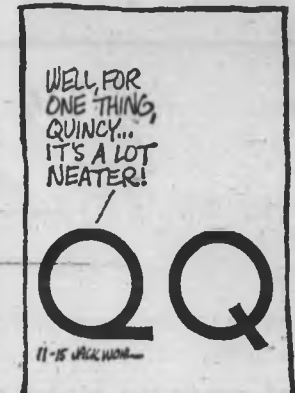

Wild kids pursue juvenile delinquency all the way from that runaway apprentice, Ben Franklin, to the little girl in the New Yorker cartoon who told her mother, "I say it's spinach — and the hell with it!"

As far as I can see, there was only one generation of youth that did not protest against authority, did not rebel. They were Hitler's youth. The Nazi kids.

Show Some Guts Grit Tells Grits

VANCOUVER (CP)—An article in a Young Liberal magazine calls on the federal government to "show some guts, some leadership and be candid with the Canadian people."

The article, in November's Young Liberal Voice, is signed by editor Tex Eneamark.

Noting a drop in Liberal popularity according to a recent poll, it says the cabinet "seems to be slipping into the same rut that the Diefenbaker government fell into — that of fearing to act because such action would erode electoral support."

Wilson's Challenge:

'Stop Plunder By Americans'

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson challenged Europe Monday to join an "urgent" seven-point plan to halt "American plunder" of European industry.

Vancouver

Press Strike Near

VANCOUVER (CP) — Strike notice was served Monday on Pacific Press Ltd. by the Vancouver-New Westminster newspaper guild and three of four craft unions involved in contract disputes.

Pacific Press prints Vancouver's two daily newspapers, the morning Province and the evening Sun.

Serving of notice by the International Typographical Union, the Mailers' Union and the Stereotypers' Union was announced by Len Guy, president of the Vancouver local of the ITU.

NO DATE GIVEN

The guild and the three craft unions can strike any time after the 48-hour notice period. No date has been announced.

William McLeman, executive secretary of the guild, said his union served strike notice, required by provincial labor law, during a negotiating meeting between the company and the guild. Negotiations are continuing, he said.

Mr. Guy said the unions decided to act because the company has not been bargaining realistically.

"One large American company today spends more on research and development every year than the annual trading turnover of the largest European company in the same field," he said at the annual Lord Mayor's dinner in London's financial district.

European firms are operating on "too small a scale," he continued, and the technological threshold is getting higher year by year.

"We have decided therefore that a new impetus must now be given towards creating the basis for a European technology which is a categorical imperative for all of us," said Wilson.

"We cannot afford to postpone until British entry into the Common Market has been negotiated and ratified the efforts that must urgently be made to create the essential technological component in the new and enlarged European community."

This was how Wilson suggested Europe might meet the American effort:

Remarks 'Gratuitously Offensive'

New Miss Canada

Carol MacKinnon, 19, of Summerside, P.E.I., was named Miss Canada, 1968, in Toronto pageant Monday. She had earlier won swimsuit contest with 35-25-35 figure. Runner-up was Merrilyn Gann, Vancouver, who was also talent contest winner. Victoria's Margaret Vickers was not among finalists.—(CP)

'Utterly Without Value'

By RON COLLISTER
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — State Secretary Judy LaMarsh, beset by demands for her resignation, faces a Commons committee today.

With a blast from the CBC board of directors reddening her ears, she headed off to meet the Commons committee studying her bill to revamp broadcasting in Canada.

On Monday, the directors accused her of making statements that were "utterly without practical value and gratuitously offensive."

EARLIER CHARGE

They rallied to the defence of CBC president Alphonse Ouimet, who has already tackled the trouble-prone minister over her charges of "rotten management" in the Crown agency.

Eight of the nine directors, including Ouimet, authored the new blast, which sprayed both Miss LaMarsh and the government.

The government was indicted for its silence in not speaking out in the CBC-LaMarsh battle.

NO COMMENT

Monday night, Prime Minister Pearson said he had no comment until he had talked to his minister.

The new CBC volcano erupted a few weeks ago when Miss LaMarsh, the minister responsible to Parliament for the CBC, charged rotten management.

Ouimet wrote to her and demanded evidence supporting her charge so that the CBC could investigate.

SHORT PAUSE

Miss LaMarsh retorted that she was not answerable to officials, only to the prime minister and Parliament, and she did not produce the evidence.

A short pause followed while Ouimet discussed the next skirmish in the battle.

REGRETTABLE LAPSE

The directors rejected categorically Miss LaMarsh's "sweeping allegations of rotten management."

They came as a "regrettable lapse" from the minister through whom the CBC reported to Parliament.

"General attacks of this nature on public officials or Crown corporations are foreign

Freed Trio Home

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Three U.S. Army sergeants released by the Viet Cong after years of captivity, returned to the U.S. Monday night.

One was taken to hospital at Washington and the other two met with family and officials at Fort Bragg.

M. Sgt. Edward R. Johnson of Seaside, Calif., was taken by stretcher to Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington suffering from dysentery and malnutrition.

The military plane that met the trio at Kennedy Airport in New York continued to Fort Bragg with S. Sgt. James E. Jackson of Talcott, W. Va., and M. Sgt. Daniel Lee Pitzer of Spring Lake, N.C.

Pitzer's wife and two children had been waiting to greet him in New York but he was whisked onto a military plane for the flight to Washington and Fort Bragg without seeing them. Their reunion was to be later at Fort Bragg. Beyond saying they were glad to be home, the three had no word for reporters.

U.S. Private Guilty Of Refusing Orders

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A general court martial Monday convicted U.S. Army Pte. Ronald Lockman, 23, of refusing to obey orders to go to Vietnam. He was sentenced to 2½ years at hard labor and dishonorable discharge.

The court deliberated only 11 minutes at the end of a trial that evoked violent confrontation between civilian spectators and military police soon after Lockman had pleaded not guilty.

The court decided the sentence for the Philadelphia Negro in a second deliberation.

The army prosecutor, demanding a maximum penalty

of five years, said Lockman had committed one of the most serious of military crimes — refusing to obey lawful orders.

The case automatically will go to a military review board.

On the witness stand, Lockman said: "I could not subject myself to the atrocities being committed by our soldiers in Vietnam."

Lockman's lawyer said he would ask the U.S. Supreme Court to act on a habeas corpus protest that the court martial barred challenges of the Vietnam war's constitutionality.

Seven of the outside demonstrators were arrested and charged with trespassing.

Levy Loses Appeal Bid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. Army Capt. Howard Levy, sentenced to three years in prison by a court martial for his anti-Vietnam war activities, was rebuffed Monday on an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Without comment in a brief order, the justices refused to review a lower court denial of Levy's claim that he was entitled to a civilian court hearing on the constitutionality of the military charges against him.

'Last Good Chance'

NEW YORK (AP) — Senator Robert F. Kennedy says the United States "cast away last winter what may have been the last best chance" to go to the negotiating table in Vietnam.

But the New York Democrat adds that, because the alternatives to negotiations are "so unpalatable," an effort to hold peace talks "should and must be made." (See also page 3.)

The chances for negotiation

FROM BOOK

Kennedy's remarks, in an article in the current issue of Look Magazine, are from his forthcoming book, To Seek A Newer World, to be published by Doubleday and Co., Inc.

Kennedy says: "In the winter of 1966-67, important United States officials felt we were on the brink of a military victory that our position was considerably stronger and that of our adversary considerably weaker than had been true a year before."

"MORE SERIOUS"

"Therefore, they thought we could afford to stiffen our position. And we did."

Kennedy says the U.S. government's public pronouncements at the time indicated it wanted "just almost any step" for a bombing halt, when in fact, "our actual demands have

Johnson Support Plunges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Louis Harris Poll indicates public confidence in President Johnson is at a record low, while the Gallup Poll shows U.S. voters have more faith in the Republican than the Democratic party.

The Harris Poll, published Monday in the Washington Post said public confidence in Johnson personally and in his handling of the Vietnam war had dropped to 23 per cent of those responding late last month.

The Gallup Poll, on the other hand, said its nationwide survey indicated 30 per cent of those responding had more faith in the Republican than in the Democratic party to handle the war, racial strife and the high cost of living.

Four Americans Quit War

TOKYO (UPI)—Four young American seamen Monday said they have deserted from the aircraft carrier USS Intrepid in protest against the Vietnam war.

Speaking on a sound movie made by a Japanese antiwar group which has been hiding them, the men said they wanted asylum. But Japan is treaty-obliged to hand them over to the U.S. government spokesman said they are caught.

However, a Japanese government spokesman said it would be hard to find the sailors and added they may already have left the country.

The Peace for Vietnam Committee refused to disclose the whereabouts of the men, identified as Michael Alfred Lindner, 19, John M. Barilla, Richard D. Bailey, 19, and Craig W. Anderson, 20.

The U.S. Navy confirmed the identifications. It said the men went absent without leave when the Intrepid called at Yokosuka on a rest and recreation respite from the Vietnam theatre Oct. 17-25.

The peace committee is headed by novelist Makoto Oda, a former Fulbright Scholar at Harvard University. Oda, author of a book called America, expressed the organization's support for the "brave action" of the four.

Ookpiks Awaiting Revived Market

OTTAWA (CP)—The northern development department has 24,883 Eskimo-made ookpik dolls waiting to be disposed of through a wholesaler, the Commons learned Monday.

A written reply tabled by Northern Development Minister Laing refused, however, to disclose ookpik sales and production figures of the Eskimo cooperative at Fort Chimo, Que., on grounds the information was obtained by the government in confidence.

The ookpik is an Arctic owl doll made of stuffed seal skin. It sold briskly for several years but is reported to have hit resistance in the last year because of a campaign against seal skin products.

The boycott was an offshoot of complaints about cruelty during East Coast seal-killing operations.

Watchdog Group Sets Policies

PORT ALBERNI—An organization called the Alberni Valley Citizens' Committee has been formed here to "watch over the interests of the valley."

Chaired by Bud Handley, the organizing committee has met and is presently laying out guidelines as to its official policies.

The first general meeting of the association will be held Dec. 12.

Major aim is to promote the welfare and development of the Valley, a committee report stated.

However, the association will also concern itself with all matters relating to hospitals, ambulance services, fire protection, garbage, air and water pollution, recreation, low-cost housing and integration of minority groups into the community.

At the same time, the committee said it hopes to guard against unwarranted tax increases.

A spokesman said he expected about 100 residents to attend the first meeting, for which a time and place has not yet been set.

Membership is $1 a year, and free to those over 65.

A person must be 16 years of age to become a member.

The group says it intends to assist all elected bodies in the community so they can carry out their responsibilities.

Council's reaction to the formation of the new association is not known.

Among those on the interim committee are Colin Wilson, Lim Law, John Ellis, Rene Chailleur, Ed Hintz, Mrs. Joyce Glasow and Mrs. Mary Goddard.

Pearson Bridge: No Action Yet

NANAIMO — City council was informed by Highways Minister Gagliardi that hopes for widening the Pearson Bridge will be deferred at least until 1968.

Ald. Gordon McKay said "I'm sorry to report we are not going to have our bridge widened this year."

He said the minister explained he had no direct control of the 1968 budget, but that he would try as best he could to have the bridge included.

"He realized the gravity of the situation," said McKay.

'Most Cruel'

Mother Cecilia Attacks SPCA

DUNCAN—City council Monday night would not get involved in an argument between the Good Shepherd Shelter at Mill Bay and the SPCA branch at Duncan.

From a letter written by Mother Cecilia Mary of the She-ter, council learned "It is the Good Shepherd Shelter and not the SPCA that is doing the greatest amount of work for the animals, and this is all being done with private funds."

Cecilia
Mary

"The animals at the shelter number between 250 and 300. "Were it not for the shelter work, the greater number of these animals would be included in SPCA work."

Mother Cecilia claimed the shelter spends "Much more money on animal welfare than the SPCA."

Ald. Hamish Muter suggested the letter be tabled so as not to get involved in an argument between the shelter and the SPCA.

Mayer Jack Dobson noted the shelter probably does a good job but it would not have as much information on the SPCA as the city has.

Mother Cecilia said: "I am not writing this to ask for money, but simply to point out that there is really little need for the SPCA work at Cowichan, and not too much need in Duncan, for the simple reason that the Good Shepherd Shelter enjoys the goodwill and appreciation of the public, while they are losing faith in the SPCA because of conditions. "I would also like to point out that SPCA stands for protection from cruelty to animals."

"Our friend (an SPCA official) is a vivisectionist and vivisection of living animals is of all things, the most cruel."

The head of the Good Shepherd Shelter stated an SPCA truck has never been seen on the Malahat, but the shelter provides services to practically the whole of Vancouver Island. She said a Colonist story prompted her to write the letter, because it was stated the SPCA needed an increase of $3,000 to carry on the work next year.

After many months of fruitless negotiations to have a traffic light installed at the Duncan Shopping Plaza and Trunk Road, council finally will take the initiative and set up temporary safety measures to protect the motoring public during the heavy Christmas traffic in that vicinity.

Muter suggested the installation of temporary traffic islands and to prohibit left hand turns because final approval for the light and its installation would take about three weeks.

He noted according to the latest report the traffic light will eventually be installed.

Housing Project Moving

Chemainus Old People Await Legion Work

CHEMAINUS — A senior citizen housing complex near the RCMP station on Cypress Street is well on the way to becoming a reality.

The project is sponsored by the Chemainus branch of the Royal Canadian Legion and has full backing from the active Chemainus Ratepayers' and Citizens' association.

Cost will be about $90,000 and it is understood a government loan will enable the money to be paid back over 40 years.

Ten suites will be built in the two-storey structure, which will be surrounded by attractive landscaping.

Each suite will include appliances, and there is a large basement for the heating system.

A ramp room can be used by all tenants.

Tentative arrangements were made between a legion committee and a council committee Wednesday night which will see a lot of land owned by the legion developed into the low-cost housing for the aged.

The municipally-owned lot adjacent will be developed into a general parking area.

Chairman of the legion planning committee Earl English said "The architects have been contacted and plans will be drawn soon."

"I have already had 12 applications for the proposed 10 units but I can't accept any applications yet."

"The basic idea behind our (Legion) scheme is an attempt to solve the tremendous need for low-cost housing for old age pensioners."

"We need this type of accommodation all over the country. "If we can realize our plan then at least some old people will not have too much to worry about in the future."

He said the rental fee for a unit in the proposed housing complex could be as low as $35 a month.

Legion members decided to build the centre near the Chemainus shopping area because many old people no longer drive.

English said "I know of three old people who have small houses. It is not only a lack of but it also becomes increasingly finance which makes it hard for them to hold on to these places, properly."

IWA Hits Wage Controls

PORT ALBERNI — The IWA here claims government figures are protecting big business.

Woodworkers official Maurice Corbett, said provincial and federal figures "protect the monopolists at the expense of workers and consumers."

He said threats of wage and price controls, made by Liberal finance minister Mitchell Sharp and Premier Bennett, are nothing new.

"For years they have been protecting the large corporations by suggesting that wage increases are responsible for so-called inflationary periods," he said in a statement.

"Last year's Economic Council of Canada report rejected the practicality of an incomes policy for Canada. Nevertheless our federal and provincial governments have now announced their intention of framing such a policy less than a year after wage-price guidelines in the U.S. proved utterly useless."

"It is interesting to note that our federal government has not suggested controls on land speculators, or controls of interest rates that would reduce the cost of housing, relieve the present housing crisis, and at the same time reduce the cost of living."

"Neither did they suggest that companies be forced to negotiate and justify price increase as labor must to with wages."

They did not suggest controls on company executives salaries and expenses, profits dividends, retained earnings, stock options and capital gains free from taxation.

"It is amazing that our governments remembered to suggest controls of wages, but all the important factors that are responsible for price increases slipped their minds."

The only way to stop what he termed "This unfair treatment of the vast majority of Canadians" was at the ballot box, Corbett concluded.

Port Man Faces Perjury Charge

A 41-year-old man charged with committing perjury at the preliminary hearing of a murder charge in 1943 will appear in central magistrate's court today.

Frank Hulbert, also known as Frank Pepler, of Port Alberni was elevated from juvenile court Monday afternoon. He was a juvenile in 1943 and must be treated as one in spite of his present age.

He is charged with committing perjury between July 1 and 8, 1943, in the preliminary hearing of William Mitchell who was charged in the slaying of Molly Justice.

The man is charged that he gave evidence, knowing it to be false, that Mitchell killed Molly Justice.

Mitchell was acquitted of the charge and Molly Justice's killer has never been captured.

Two Die Hunting Third Injured

Road Accidents
Kill Four From Duncan
To Port Alice

It was a weekend of death and injury for Island residents, including hunting deaths at Campbell River and Gold River, and a hunting injury near Gold River.

A young man was crushed when a convertible flipped at Port Alice, on the northern end of the Island.

A teen-age girl was hit and killed as she walked near Port Alberni.

A Royston boy was shot and killed while hunting near Gold River. In another incident, a hunter was shot and wounded.

Women Die

A Campbell River man was found dead after becoming lost while hunting.

Two women were killed at Duncan in a car crash. And a ferry employee died while working aboard the Mv. Mayne Queen.

Frank Dixon of 2416 West Seventh, Vancouver, was found dead of natural causes, after being missing while hunting for 24 hours.

He was spotted by helicopter as he lay dead in bush near a logging trail at Upper Quilnash Lake, a short distance from the old Argonaut Mine.

At Port Alice, an Englishman named Derek Edwin Bryant, 21, was passenger in a small convertible sports car, which flipped off the road.

Bryant was killed on the road, between Rumble Beach and Port Alice.

Driver Lorne Kenneth Gaylor, 23, Rumble Beach, escaped with scratches.

A B.C. Ferries waitress became ill Monday while working on the Mayne Queen. She was Mrs. Olive Potvin, who turned 64 last week.

She lived at Saanum Island. Captain James Pollock called the RCMP launch when he approached Montague Harbor.

The launch rushed Mrs. Potvin to Lady Minto Hospital at Ganges, where she died of a heart attack at 11 a.m.

Juliet Aline Dion, 500 Bruce, Port Alberni, was killed when hit by a car on Grandview Road. She was walking with two girlfriends Sunday at the time of the accident.

Driver was identified as Dino Pavan.

Meanwhile the driver involved in the death of Marcel Dube, 13, Halkowen, Alex Cox, was found blameless by a Victoria inquest jury.

Miss Dion's death was the third since Oct. 30. Friday Marie LeClair, 815 Fourteenth North, died when her car spun out of control in Cathedral Grove.

Edward George LeBus, 13, of Royston, was shot by another member of his hunting party. He died near Camp 10, six miles east of Gold River, Sunday.

In another incident 10 miles north of Gold River Frank Wolfe, 41, Port Alberni, was shot through the neck early Sunday.

He escaped death by a fraction of an inch.

Police said the shot was fired by Wolfe's friend Anton Rous, Port Alberni.

An inquest opened Monday night with the viewing of the bodies of two women who were killed in a two-car accident Saturday afternoon.

Driver of one car, Mrs. Bernice Constance Thom, 43, of 645 Beatrice Street, Vancouver, and her mother, 74-year-old Mrs. Kathleen McChristie, of 384 Kilpatrick Street, Sudbury, Ontario, were both pronounced dead at the scene of the accident.

Radio Man

Driver of the other vehicle, Alex (Bud) Crabbe of Chemainus, received minor cuts and bruises. Crabbe is a radio salesman and announcer.

A passenger in the Thom car, Mrs. Thom's husband Stanley Alexander Thom, 47, was taken to King's Daughters Hospital at Duncan suffering a fractured leg and hand and face lacerations.

He was transferred to a Victoria hospital Sunday.

Injured Montana Man Lowered from Cliff

PENDER ISLAND — Fred Bovey, 22, is both a sky diver and a mountain climber. But he didn't get in trouble until he did both at the same time.

The young Montana man is in Resthaven Hospital at Sidney, after falling 50 feet from a cliff on South Pender. He and Vern Simpson of Vancouver were spending the weekend on Simpson's island property.

Bovey is an adventurous man. In addition to climbing and jumping from planes, he has raced motorcycles. Sunday he was helping Simpson build a cabin.

They were hiking, when Bovey saw a cliff he wanted to climb. It was part of the Pender Island rock bluffs. He was 100 feet up when he fell and landed on his feet on some earth.

It was a jarring fall, and a vertebrae was crushed. It took more than two hours to rescue the young man, whose back was causing him extreme pain.

Friends had to lower him more than 50 feet of rock face. Simpson is a Vancouver artist, whose work on murals in a Courtenay pub was the subject of an Island article in the summer.

Social Worker Will Work With Indians

DUNCAN—A full-time social welfare worker has been assigned to Cowichan reserve.

This is seen by Cowichan band officials as the provincial government's response to a passionate plea by Indian mothers to the cabinet several months ago.

Authorities decided to place Harkewil Singh on the reserve for three months, to study the problems and conditions of the Cowichan band reserves for the general improvement of welfare services there.

Some months ago, a delegation of mothers went to the government at Victoria and complained about the lack of a social worker on the reserve.

They claimed a permanent social worker could prevent considerable hardship involving neglected children and families in distress.

The new worker will be guided by a committee of seven persons, Abner Thorne, Ben George, Philomena Page, the local Indian agent, the agency welfare supervisor, the local superintendent of welfare and the regional administrator of welfare.

Drugs must obtain written approval from the agency office for each prescription.

The Indian Council, in a letter to the Indian agent, urged the setting up of an identification card system so members of the band will not have to give written statements for each prescription.

In other council business, one band decided not to give its consent to the proposed expropriation of an easement for a pathway which could be used by children attending Khowhemun Elementary School.

Drug Plan Attacked

Band secretary Louise Underwood said "Once again band council is extremely frustrated regarding the Indian Affairs latest policy regarding the procurement and distribution of drugs."

She said in May a new ruling enabled patients to get drugs from the drug stores at the proprietor's discretion as to whether or not the patient was able to pay for them.

Miss Underwood said "now the set-up has been changed again, and anyone wishing the local agency to pay for the

Expropriation Out

In 10 points the Indian council explained why it will not consent to expropriation:

● South boundary of Centennial Subdivision makes provision for a 10-foot roadway;

● Government Street at that point is 116 feet wide, which would give ample room for a sidewalk;

● On the subdivision's west side is a road allowance that could be used;

● If this road was used permission for a sidewalk along Cliffs Road could be obtained;

● The expropriation would divide the Williams Property making one portion useless for home building;

● The proposed path would run through established fruit trees, berries and garden, leaving little room for future expansion of one home;

● The proposed 10-foot expropriation along Cliffs Road would leave two homes with very little frontage and possibly undermine the foundation of one home;

● Three people wish to build homes which would be impossible;

● Since one land owner is willing to sell the board sufficient land, it is unnecessary to press for a path through the Williams' properties.

Miss Underwood said the last point is "the chief, council, the Williams family and many other band members are strongly opposed to expropriation, and feel that once this type of run through established fruit trees, berries and garden, leaving

VANCOUVER (CP)—An article in a Young Liberal magazine calls on the federal government to "show some guts, some leadership and be candid with the Canadian people."

The article, in November's Young Liberal Voice, is signed by editor Tex Easmark.

Noting a drop in Liberal popularity according to a recent poll, it says the cabinet "seems to be slipping into the same rut that the Diefenbaker government fell into — that of fearing to act because such action would erode electoral support."

Press Strike Near

VANCOUVER (CP) — Strike notice was served Monday on Pacific Press Ltd. by the Vancouver-New Westminster newspaper guild and three of four craft unions involved in contract disputes.

Pacific Press prints Vancouver's two daily newspapers, the morning Province and the evening Sun.

Serving of notice by the International Typographical Union, the Mailers' Union and the Stereotypers' Union was announced by Len Guy, president of the Vancouver local of the ITU.

NO DATE GIVEN

The guild and the three craft unions can strike any time after the 48-hour notice period. No date has been announced.

William McLeman, executive secretary of the guild, said his union served strike notice, required by provincial labor law, during a negotiating meeting between the company and the guild. Negotiations are continuing, he said.

Mr. Guy said the unions decided to act because the company has not been bargaining realistically.

Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — State Secretary Judy LaMarsh, beset by demands for her resignation, faces a Commons committee today.

With a blast from the CBC board of directors reddening her ears, she headed off to meet the Commons committee studying her bill to revamp broadcasting in Canada.

On Monday, the directors accused her of making statements that were "utterly without practical value and gratuitously offensive."

EARLIER CHARGE

They rallied to the defence of CBC president Alphonse Ouimet, who has already tackled the trouble-prone minister over her charges of "rotten management" in the Crown agency.

Eight of the nine directors, including Ouimet, authored the new blast, which sprayed both Miss LaMarsh and the government.

The government was indicted for its silence in not speaking out in the CBC-LaMarsh battle.

NO COMMENT

Monday night, Prime Minister Pearson said he had no comment until he had talked to his minister.

The new CBC volcano erupted a few weeks ago when Miss LaMarsh, the minister responsible to Parliament for the CBC, charged rotten management.

Ouimet wrote to her and demanded evidence supporting her charge so that the CBC could investigate.

SHORT PAUSE

Miss LaMarsh retorted that she was not answerable to officials, only to the prime minister and Parliament, and she did not produce the evidence.

A short pause followed while Ouimet discussed the next skirmish in the battle.

It came Monday — the directors' statement, agreed at a special Sunday meeting.

REGRETTABLE LAPSE

The directors rejected categorically Miss LaMarsh's "sweeping allegations of rotten management."

They came as a "regrettable lapse" from the minister through whom the CBC reported to Parliament.

"General attacks of this nature on public officials or Crown corporations are foreign

Freed Trio Home

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Three U.S. Army sergeants released by the Viet Cong after years of captivity, returned to the U.S. Monday night.

One was taken to hospital at Washington and the other two met with family and officials at Fort Bragg.

M. Sgt. Edward R. Johnson of Seattle, Calif., was taken by stretcher to Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington suffering from dysentery and malnutrition.

The military plane that met the trio at Kennedy Airport in New York continued to Fort Bragg with S. Sgt. James E. Jackson of Talcott, W. Va., and M. Sgt. Daniel Lee Pitzer of Spring Lake, N.C.

Pitzer's wife and two children had been waiting to greet him in New York but he was whisked onto a military plane for the flight to Washington and Fort Bragg without seeing them. Their reunion was to be later at Fort Bragg.

Beyond saying they were glad to be home, the three had no word for reporters.

U.S. Private Guilty Of Refusing Orders

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A general court martial Monday convicted U.S. Army Pte. Ronald Lockman, 23, of refusing to obey orders to go to Vietnam. He was sentenced to 2½ years at hard labor and dishonorable discharge.

The court deliberated only 11 minutes at the end of a trial that evoked violent confrontation between civilian spectators and military police soon after Lockman had pleaded not guilty.

The court decided the sentence for the Philadelphia Negro in a second deliberation.

The army prosecutor, demanding a maximum penalty

of five years, said Lockman had committed one of the most serious of military crimes — refusing to obey lawful orders.

The case automatically will go to a military review board.

On the witness stand, Lockman said: "I could not subject myself to the atrocities being committed by our soldiers in Vietnam."

Lockman's lawyer said he would ask the U.S. Supreme Court to act on a habeas corpus protest that the court martial barred challenges of the Vietnam war's constitutionality.

Seven of the outside demonstrators were arrested and charged with trespassing.

'Last Good Chance'

NEW YORK (AP) — Senator Robert F. Kennedy says the United States cast away last winter what may have been "the last best chance" to go to the negotiating table in Vietnam.

But the New York Democrat adds that, because the alternatives to negotiations are "so unacceptable," an effort to hold peace talks "should and must be made." (See also page 3.)

The chances for negotiation

FROM BOOK

Kennedy's remarks, in an article in the current issue of Look Magazine, are from his forthcoming book, "To Seek A Newer World," to be published by Doubleday and Co., Inc.

Kennedy says: "In the winter of 1966-67, important United States officials felt we were on the brink of a military victory, that our position was considerably stronger and that of our adversary considerably weaker than had been true a year before."

'MORE SERIOUS'

"Therefore, they thought, we could afford to stiffen our position. And we did."

Johnson Support Plunges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Louis Harris Poll indicates public confidence in President Johnson is at a record low, while the Gallup Poll shows U.S. voters have more faith in the Republican than the Democratic party.

The Harris Poll, published Monday in the Washington Post, said public confidence in Johnson personally and in his handling of the Vietnam war had dropped to 23 per cent of those responding late last month.

The Gallup Poll, on the other hand, said its nationwide survey indicated 30 per cent of those responding had more faith in the Republican than in the Democratic party to handle the war, racial strife and the high cost of living.

Four Americans Quit War

TOKYO (UPI)—Four young American seamen Monday said they have deserted from the aircraft carrier USS Intrepid in protest against the Vietnam war.

Speaking on a sound movie made by a Japanese antiwar group which has been hiding them, the men said they wanted asylum. But Japan is treaty-obliged to hand them back to U.S. authorities if they are caught.

However, a Japanese government spokesman said it would be hard to find the sailors and added they may already have left the country.

The Peace for Vietnam Committee refused to disclose the whereabouts of the men, identified as Michael Alfred Lindner, 19, John M. Barilla, Richard D. Bailey, 19, and Craig W. Anderson, 20.

The U.S. Navy confirmed the identifications. It said the men went absent without leave when the Intrepid called at Yokosuka on a rest and recreation respite from the Vietnam theatre Oct. 17-25.

The peace committee is

Ookpiks Awaiting Revived Market

OTTAWA (CP)—The northern development department has 24,883 Eskimo-made ookpik dolls waiting to be disposed of through a wholesaler, the Commons learned Monday.

A written reply tabled by Northern Development Minister Laing, refused, however, to disclose ookpik sales and production figures of the Eskimo cooperative at Fort Chimo, Que., on grounds the information was obtained by the government in confidence.

The ookpik is an Arctic owl doll made of stuffed sealskin. It sold briskly for several years but is reported to have hit resistance in the last year because of a campaign against sealskin products.

The boycott was an offshoot of complaints about cruelty during East Coast seal-killing operations.
